BIBLE TWISTED TO NAZI CREED

SEE ROOSEVELT READY FOR NEW PURGE ATTEMPT

Expect Him to Take Slap at George.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Jubilant over the victory of President Roosevelt's "Dear Alben" Barkley in the Kentucky primary yesterday, members of the White House purge committee expressed confidence today that Mr. Roosevelt will take a slap at Senator Walter F. George when he visits Georgia on his way back to Washington this week. The Georgia primary will be on Sept. 6.

Sen. W. F. George.

Senator George, one of the nine Democrats up for reëlection this year who were marked for slaughter at the polls because of their opposition to the President's court packing bill, is an odds-on favorite in the three cornered Georgia senatorial primary campaign. Lawrence Camp, United States attorney at Atlanta, is the handpicked administration candidate, and former Gov. Eugene Talmadge, Roosevelt foe, is the other. At present, Georgia politicians declare, Mr. Camp is running third.

Has Change of Heart.

For a time there was considerable doubt that Mr. Roosevelt would risk his political prestige by openly indorsing a man who appeared to be running third, or openly chastizing the favorite in a three cornered race. Senator George was on the President's program when he set out from Washington on a journey to reward the faithful and punish the heretics, but so was Senator Ellison D. Smith [D., S. C.], and the South Carolina punitive expedition was called off on the strength of advices that Gov. Olin D. Johnston, the handpicked administration candidate, didn't have a chance.

The Barkley victory, however, has convinced the purge committee that Mr. Roosevelt will confer his blessing upon Mr. Camp in Georgia. Members of this committee, including Thomas G. [Tommy the Cork] Corcoran, James Roosevelt, son and secretary of the President; Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator; David K. Niles, assistant WPA administrator, and Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general and patronage manager of the justice department, regard the Barkley victory as a personal triumph for the President, who went into Kentucky and made three speeches in behalf of his "Dear Alben."

Reveal Late Chandler Gains.

The Gallup poll showed that Barkley's opponent, Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler, steadily gained strength after the President's Kentucky visit, but the administration strategists nevertheless claim a great victory because Barkley campaigned as an outright coat-tailer and yes-man.

Anti-Roosevelt Democrats said there was little consolation for the White House in the Barkley victory. They pointed out that Barkley's indicated majority is not more than 50,000 in a primary with 500,000 votes cast. In view of the circumstances, Barkley's prestige as majority leader of the senate and the fact that 75,000 WPA workers and federal office holders, controling an estimated 200,000 votes, were regimented behind him, Gov. Chandler's strength was remarkable, the conservative Democrats declared.

Barkley Points to Millions.

Having been credited by Mr. Roosevelt with getting 330 million dollars in federal cash for Kentucky, Barkley campaigned on the issue of getting more than Chandler could get. "If you want to swap all you're getting now from the federal government for a set of balanced books down in Washington, then vote for Happy Chandler," he said. "But if you want to keep on getting what you're getting and get some more, too, then vote to keep me in the senate."

Mr. Roosevelt will receive reports on the Georgia political situation on Tuesday, when he goes to Warm Springs. On the basis of these reports he will decide just how far he should go in the matter of taking

Wisconsin Farmers Blast Labor Rule

PROTEST LAWS GIVING UNIONS SPECIAL RIGHTS

Demand Even Break in Wage Disputes.

BY FRED GRAFF.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Representatives of 80,000 Wisconsin farmers have declared war against the advantages won by labor organizations over agriculture through the state and national labor relations laws.

Arrow points to Richland Center.

The farmers' fight against economic disadvantages was brought into the open here last night when the board of directors of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, composed of thirty-five farm organizations, adopted a platform of protest against the operation of state and national labor laws.

Resists Union Drive.

The farm council acted because of an attempt by the American Federation of Labor teamsters' and truckers' union to organize workers in the plant of the Richland Coöperative Creamery company in Richland Center, which processes milk from 1,100 farms. The farmers there have resisted the union, although it was backed by the federal labor board.

The farm council adopted its platform of protest here last night after two weeks of study by a committee which found that labor constantly is gaining additional rights and that farmers suffer economically as the result.

The council said that farmers are particularly vulnerable to the encroachment of labor organizations because of the seasonal and perishable nature of agricultural products and that labor has shown a determined effort to extend its efforts to include the employés of the producer and the processing plant.

Council Makes Nine Demands.

The farm council's platform makes nine principal demands:

1. Protection of Wisconsin farmers in their right to produce and sell without unlawful interference.
2. Unobstructed use of highways for transportation in commerce.
3. Consideration of local conditions in fixing hours and wages.
4. Equal rights with employés to arbitration services of the labor board.
5. Impartial elections to determine bargaining rights of the organization asserting it represents a majority of workers.
6. Requirements making labor organizations legally responsible for their acts.
7. Requirements that parties to labor disputes post bonds to guarantee the fulfilment of agreements and reimbursement for overt acts.
8. Prohibition of labor organizations and individuals from coercion or intimidation of employés.
9. Legislative action to obtain enforcement of existing laws supposed to protect individuals in the use of private property.

La Follette Sidesteps.

Each of the demands refers to an incident to which the farmers have been subjected in the last two years. When the A. F. of L. sought to organize the Richland plant the farmer owners asked Gov. Phil La Follette to declare coöperatives exempt from the operations of the state labor law, which specifically exempts farmers. The farmers were confident of coöperation, because the coöperatives were sponsored by the La Follette administration.

Then the farmers received a surprise. La Follette sidestepped the issue and the national labor relations board took jurisdiction to save La Follette's political organization from the embarrassment of enforcing the law.

Grandpa, 102, Outstays the Kids on Roller Coaster

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 7.—(AP)—For John Jones of Grinnell, who is a pert 102 year old, it was a busy day. He came here with his grandchildren to do the town. The grandchildren pleaded for rest in the 90 degree heat after they followed Mr. Jones up 387 steps to the state capitol dome. But he insisted on taking them for a rollick on the roller coaster and other rides at an amusement park.

COOLS OFF AFTER ROW WITH WIFE, BUT FINDS COPS ICY TO A NUDIST

William Brennan wanted to cool off yesterday. First he visited a tavern. But that didn't help, so he went to the Franklin street bridge. The river looked cool and inviting.

Brennan went to the dock below the bridge and there, as passersby gaped in astonishment, calmly took off his clothes and jumped in the water for a swim. The crew of the fire tug Fred A. Busse, docked nearby, coaxed him out with a rope ladder and stood around as he dressed.

Taken to the Central station, Brennan told Detectives Albert Belstrom and William Donovan why he needed to cool off. He said he had quarreled with his wife. He gave his address as 6722 Halsted street. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

5 Drown: Boy, Girl, 2 Friends and Daredevil

A young man was drowned yesterday while swimming in a friendly race off Montrose avenue. Another sank in a Lake county lake while trying to rescue a companion, who also drowned. A small boy lost his life in the same county when he ventured into deep water. A little girl died when she slipped from an inflated inner tube on which she had been floating.

Such were the swimming accidents that brought tragedy over Sunday to five Chicago and suburban homes.

The victims were Herbert Peterson, 21 years old, 4641 North Racine avenue; Henry Kumm, 27, of 1145 North Oakley boulevard; Joseph Haboj, 25, of 1012 North Honore street; James Gast, 5, of 2832 76th court, Elmwood Park, and Alice May Matulis, 8, of Maywood.

On Forbidden Island.

Peterson and a friend, Edward Vogt, 4543 Greenview avenue, attempted to race to the west shore of Montrose harbor from "The Island," a point forbidden to swimmers. Peterson easily outdistanced Vogt. Here fate took a hand, for Peterson sank thirty feet from his goal and Vogt was too far behind to rescue him.

Haboj and Kumm were in a rowboat on Slocum lake, two miles from Wauconda. With them was Anthony Zwbrowski, 900 North Fairfield avenue. About 1,000 feet from the north shore, Haboj dived. When he did not come up, Kumm dived after him. He also failed to reappear. Zwbrowski called for help, but Kumm and Haboj could not be found.

Wades Into Deep Water.

The Gast boy was playing on a resort beach of Round lake, near Libertyville, when he waded unnoticed into water beyond his depth. He was not missed immediately. A search for him ended three hours later when his body was found.

The Matulis girl was floating on an inner tube in Island lake, twenty miles north of Duluth, Minn., when she lost her hold on the tube. She sank in deep water. Efforts of rescuers to find her were fruitless.

Joseph Sylvestra, 16 years old, 1023 South Peoria street, walked out on the pier at the beach in North Chicago, and dived. The water there was only two feet deep. At St. Therese hospital, Waukegan, where he is in critical condition, doctors said his neck was broken.

AFRICAN NATIVE 140 YEARS OLD REPORTED FOUND

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Sir John Harris, who spent most of his life in Africa as a missionary, has written a letter to the London Times appealing for funds to collect data on Ramonolwana Senan, a Bechuanaland native believed to be 140 years old.

Harris recently returned from South Africa in connection with his activities on behalf of the natives and aborigines. He asserts Senan is still in good health and has a son over 100 years old and a daughter 16 years old. He has lost only one tooth but has cataracts over both eyes.

Two photographs of the patriarch submitted by Harris show Senan remarkably well preserved despite his reputedly great age. The top of his head is bald and the remaining hair and beard have turned white.

Lightning Strikes Twice in Same Place; 3 Killed

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—In the middle of Jacob Riis park beach, in the nearby Rockaways, only a few hundred feet from where three persons were killed just a year ago by lightning, death struck from the skies today and took three more lives among the 80,000 persons on the beach. Twenty others were felled by the bolt and five of them required hospital treatment for shock. The dead were Cesare Cito, 36 years old; Peter Cava, 27, and his wife, Mary, 24.

5 YR. OLD BOY ELUDES SEARCH PARTY OF 400 FARMERS FOR 5 DAYS

STURGEON FALLS, Ont., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A 5 year old farm boy, missing since Wednesday in the bush country 13 miles north of here, was found today apparently little the worse for his experience.

Farmers who had been searching the wild animal-infested area came upon the lad, Fernand Tessier, only a half mile from his home. The searchers at times numbered 400.

Fernand disappeared during a berry picking expedition with his father. The searchers who found him said he attempted to run away. They added that tracks were found indicating he had seen them several times and had hidden until they passed.

QUEEN MARY SETS ATLANTIC RECORD EUROPE TO U. S.

New York, Aug. 8 [Monday].—(AP)—The British liner Queen Mary early today set a new westbound trans-Atlantic speed record with an unofficial time of 3 days 20 hours and 2 minutes—three hours faster than the record set by the French liner Normandie a year ago.

The French liner still holds the eastbound record of 3 days 22 hours and 7 minutes, also set last year.

The run is over a distance of 3,000 miles, from Bishop's Rock, England, to Ambrose lightship, off New York. The Queen Mary's average speed for the record breaking run remains to be computed on the basis of the exact number of miles her records show she covered. The French liner averaged 30.58 nautical miles an hour on her record trip.

CITY ENROLLING BOYS AND GIRLS IN LOYALTY CLUB

Chicago boys and girls will be asked to join the "C" club beginning today. Club buttons will be given to those who sign a pledge of civic loyalty devised by Mayor Kelly's New Century committee.

Signers promise to obey their parents and all laws, to practice safety rules, and clean personal habits, and to be especially considerate of aged and crippled persons.

Barnet Hodes, secretary of the committee, said directors of park playgrounds and recreation centers will bestow the buttons.

Russians Drive Jap Army from Disputed Hill

MOSCOW, Aug. 8 [Monday].—(AP)—Maxim Litvinov, soviet commissar of foreign affairs, has warned Japan that the soviet government will continue to repulse all Japanese attacks with "the most vigorous measures, including artillery and aircraft."

The commissar's warning was contained in a three hour conversation with the Japanese ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, yesterday shortly after a soviet army communique announced Russian troops had driven Japanese from Siberian territory along the Corean border at Changkufeng.

[The Tokio war office declared Japanese still occupied disputed points in the Changkufeng area. Russians were reported to have resumed an artillery bombardment last night. Japanese said a soviet air armada of 100 planes engaged in bombing operations throughout the day.]

Cites New Border Incidents.

Litvinov answered the ambassador's new truce proposals by calling his attention to new border incidents in the area since Shigemitsu first presented his suggestions on Aug. 4.

Litvinov's warning was prompted by a new border clash 250 miles north of Changkufeng, at hill No. 588.2, near Suifenho, where the North Manchurian railway crosses into soviet territory. A Japanese attachment with machine guns, he said, attacked and wounded several red soldiers and then withdrew.

Moscow is tired of making another protest for each new frontier incident, Litvinov intimated.

"The time has come to terminate these endless 'incidents,'" he said. "The time has come for the soviet government to declare it does not intend to let its soviet border guards be attacked with impunity nor permit even a temporary seizure of its territory by Japanese troops.

Danger Japan Must Consider.

"The Changkufeng attacks obviously were an attempt to occupy soviet territory in time of peace, or even to involve Japan in a war with the U. S. S. R. Here is a danger which Japan must seriously consider."

If Japan will guarantee a cessation of attacks on soviet territory and a cessation of artillery fire from Manchukuan points within a fixed time, Moscow also will give similar guarantees, Litvinov declared.

Replying to Shigemitsu's proposal that troops on both sides be withdraw to a reasonable distance, the soviet commissar replied that "since Japanese troops attacked soviet territory and caused the conflict, withdrawal of troops to further distances would be welcomed as a means of preventing further conflicts."

Proposes Neutral Line.

Litvinov summarized the soviet idea of how peace could be restored as follows:

Military operations to cease after both sides pledge themselves not to cross or fight across a predetermined line and to recall their troops if at

HATE FOR JEWS IS WRITTEN INTO NEW TESTAMENT

Christ's Teachings Made to Conform.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

What the Bible is going to look like when altered to fit Nazi theories can now be forecast as first portions of the Germanized New Testament in English are being received in this country. The rewriting of Christ's Sermon on the Mount to fit the Nazi scheme of things was done by former Reichbishop Ludwig Mueller, and the greatly loved gospel according to St. John was Germanized by Bishop Weidemann of Bremen.

Ludwig Mueller.

Hitler appointed Bishop Mueller head of the German Evangelical union and chairman of the Protestant supreme council on June 29, 1933. He held that office for more than two years.

A pamphlet with the rewritten Nazi version of New Testament incidents printed in parallel columns with the King James version is being circulated by the Friends of Europe, a society of British intellectuals whose announced purpose is to fight all enemies of freedom and democracy.

Notions of Sin Removed.

A foreword to the pamphlet was written by the Rev. Dr. Howard Chandler Robbins of the General Theological seminary, New York, and former dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York. Dr. Robbins is highly trusted among America's biblical scholars and interpreters. He is often a welcome visitor in the nation's foremost Protestant pulpits.

From the parts thus far made public it appears that all notions of "sin," except harm to Nazi comradeship, have been removed from the new German Christians' thinking. The word sin does not appear in Weidemann's St. John nor in Mueller's rewritten Sermon on the Mount. Other words and phrases basic to historical Christianity are either missing or twisted into line with Nazi teachings.

"Grace," the word which to churchmen denotes the means of the working of God among men, has been deleted entirely. Everlasting life is changed to true or real life, and Son of God, in the Nazi version, is "The One who is of God." Disciples are supplanted by mere "followers," and heaven being omitted entirely even from the Lord's Prayer is thus, according to Dr. Robbins, to be found in Nazi Germany only.

Nazi Lord's Prayer.

Here is the Lord's Prayer as rewritten by Bishop Mueller:

"Our Father in Eternity, holy be Thy truth to us, reign Thou in our hearts. Thy will be done. Give us our daily bread. Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive them that trespass against us. Strengthen us in temptation and free us from the power of the Evil One. Amen."

The Golden Rule has been rewritten in the new Nazi Bible to apply only between Nazis, according to Dr. Robbins. Instead of reading as Christ gave it in the Sermon on the Mount—"All things therefore whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, even so do ye also unto them; for this is the law and the prophets,"—Bishop Weidemann's version of the Golden Rule reads:

"And now I tell you the great secret of true national community and real comradeship: a truth which most men carelessly pass over though it might help them so much in everyday life. It is a divine truth which lies deep in your blood and has been handed down to you by your forefathers; a simple truth which yet embraces the whole greatness of God. And this truth is: all things whatever you would that men should do unto you, even so do you also unto them."

All reference to Moses and the Hebrew prophets has been deleted from the Nazi Bible. Dr. Robbins, in pointing this out, concludes that the Old Testament has no place in the German Christian Bible. He added that the German Christians, not the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] church, in rewriting the Bible, have adopted the view expounded by the Englishman, Houston Stewart Chamberlain, that Galilee at the time of Christ was inhabited by Aryans who were violently anti-Jewish.

This is made clear in the rewritten Chapter IV. of St. John, which tells of Christ going into Galilee by way of Samaria. Bishop Weidemann rewrites it this way:

". . . He left the land of the Jews and returned again to his own country of Galilee. But he chose the way through the country of the Samaritans who were despised by the Jews."

The King James version records the journey as follows:

"He left Judea, and departed again into Galilee. And he must needs go through Samaria."

When Christ spoke to the Samaritans, the King James version records his words as follows:

"Ye worship ye know not what; we know what we worship: for salvation is of the Jews."

This did not suit Weidemann, who wrote it this way:

"Ye Samaritans honor God and know him not. The Jews at least know of the God from whom alone salvation comes."

Rewritten by Center Group.

Dr. Robbins explained that the rewriting of the Bible was conceived in the minds of former Reichbishop Mueller and his colleagues, who constitute the center group in the German religious situation.

The extreme leftists in German religion, once led by the late Gen. Ludendorff, endeavored to scrap everything Christian and substitute a frank German paganism. At the extreme right are the Confessional [Evangelical Lutheran] Christians who hold to the faith of the Reformation. In the center are the German Christians, led by Bishops Mueller, Weidemann and others. They, Dr. Robbins asserts, are attempting under official Nazi sanction to purge Christianity of features objectionable to the Nazi soul and bring it into conformity with Nazi nationalism compounded of "blood, soil and folk."

"In the Sermon on the Mount, and in the Gospel according to St. John," Dr. Robbins points out, "the most sacred precincts of the Christian religion have been invaded by National Socialist views. The Sermon on the Mount, beginning with the Beatitudes, is the best epitome of Christ's teaching, and the Gospel of St. John affords the deepest insight into the mystery of Christ's person. It is strange that this invasion should occur in Germany, homeland of the reformation by which the Christian Scriptures were restored to a place of supreme authority."

How Nazis Have Altered King James Version of the New Testament

Following are typical quotations from the King James version of the New Testament, together with the corresponding Nazi versions. The Friends of Europe, a society of British intellectuals whose announced purpose is to fight all enemies of democracy and freedom, is circulating comparisons of the King James version and the verses as they have been rewritten by Nazi churchmen. The Golden Rule and the Lord's Prayer also were rewritten to conform to Hitler's views.

KING JAMES VERSION	NAZI VERSION
St. Matthew v., 3.
Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs is the kingdom of God.	Happy is he who in childlike simplicity trusts in God: he has community with God.
St. Matthew v., 4.
Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.	Happy is he who bears his sufferings like a man; he will find strength never to despair without courage.
St. Matthew v., 5.
Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.	Happy is he who is always a good comrade; he will make his way in the world.
St. Matthew v., 9.
Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.	Happy are they who keep peace with their fellow countrymen: they do the will of God.
St. Matthew v., 21, 22.
Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: but I say unto you, that whosover is, without a cause, angry with his brother, shall be in danger of the judgment; and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire.	You bear it in your blood, and your ancestors have taught you: thou shalt do no murder; a murderer is guilty and must be sentenced to death. But you must realize and understand that murder itself is only the consequence of an inner development which begins with malace, envy, and hatred. Whosoever lets such feelings spring up in himself, makes himself guilty. But whosoever because of such feeling malevolently abuses and persecutes his fellow countrymen makes himself really guilty. But whosoever tries to ruin him morally, or threatens to assault him, destroys the national fellowship and makes himself deserving of the severest punishment before God and men.
St. Matthew v., 44.
Love your enemies and pray for them that persecute you.	If you would be God's children, you must be on good terms with your fellow countrymen and comrades. Behave like a comrade, not only towards a friend, but also towards an adversary Keep calm and collected even if you are spitefully treated; try hard to preserve a noble and quiet bearing even to those who insult and persecute you.
St. Matthew v., 27, 31, 32.
Ye have heard that was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery. . . . It hath been said, Whosoever shall put away his wife, let him give her a writing of divorcement; but I say unto you that whosoever shall put away his wife, saving for the cause of fornication, causeth her to commit adultery: and whosoever shall marry her that is divorced committeth adultery.	Take care and take pains that your family life be genuine and true; thus will you serve your Volk. If your family life is insincere and untrue, it will be harmful to your Volk. . . . Adultery is a cause for divorce. But do not enter lightly into divorce, for not only your own interest is at stake but that of your Volk.
St. Matthew v., 39, 40, 41.
But I say unto you, That ye resist not evil; but whosover shall smite thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloke also. And whosover shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain.	I say to you, it is better so to live with your fellow countrymen that you get on well together. The community of Volk* is a high and holy good for which you must make sacrifices. Therefore, accommodate your adversary as far as possible before breaking with him altogether. If your comrade, in his excitement, strikes you in the face, it is not always right to strike back at once. It is more manly to control one's self; probably your comrade will then be ashamed.
St. John ii., 16.
Make not my Father's house an house of merchandise.	Make not God's house a shop.
St. John xii., 12, 13.
On the next day . . . when they heard that Jesus was coming . . . took branches of palm trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna: Blessed is the king of Israel that cometh in the name of the Lord.	Then they took green branches, went to meet him and cried: HEIL to him that comes in the name of God. HEIL to thee, thou shalt be our king!
St. John xiv., 2.
In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there ye may be also.	God's eternity is like a spacious house. How else could I say to you that I will give you an eternal home? I go before you as your Feuhrer but I will come again and take you to me; for ye too shall be where I am. Ye know the way thither.

PERSONALTY TAX DEADLINE NEAR IN 3 TOWNSHIPS

Deadlines for personal property tax schedules from the last three townships in the county are at hand, Assessor John S. Clark warned yesterday. Today is the deadline for West township. Wednesday is the last date for filing returns from Lake and South townships.

The law provides that a penalty of 50 per cent additional be added to the bills of those who fail to file schedules on time.

South township, one of three outstanding, includes the loop.

Assessor Clark said his staf is expected to turn the books over to the board of appeals on Oct. 15. This would be a step toward normalcy. The 1937 books did not reach the board until last Jan. 5.

Lindberghs Make a Forced Landing at French Airport

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh made a forced landing at the airport at Le Havre today because of motor trouble. The Lindberghs, who are on a flight from their Illiec Island home off the coast of Brittany to England, resumed their trip after mechanics had repaired the plane.

NEGROES WIN RIGHT TO THIRD OF ALL JOBS IN STORES OF HARLEM

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Under an agreement reached today colored workers will be guaranteed at least one-third of all sales positions in Harlem retail stores. The agreement was drafted by the Uptown Chamber of Commerce, acting for hundreds of white owned stores, and by the Greater New York coördinating committee for employment, representing 200 colored organizations. The action grows out of threatened race uprisings last April.

White employés will not lose jobs under the agreement, as replacements will only be made as the whites quit. All vacancies will be filled through the New York Urban league, a colored association, which will act as an employment agency.

The agreement also provides for an arbitration board, five members from each side. Both groups agree to be bound by the board's decisions and refrain from picketing during deliberations.

La Guardia Requests PWA to Cancel Offer of Loan

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Mayor F. H. La Guardia has asked the parks works administration to cancel its offer of a $2,715,500 loan for use in constructing the new Hunter college administration building because the city can get the money independently at a lower interest rate, PWA officials disclosed today. The PWA loan would cost 4 per cent. The city is able to market its bonds at a net interest charge of 3 per cent.

FRANTIC PARENTS FIND 'KIDNAPED' BOY IN HIS BED

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson of 1742 North Francisco avenue were much perturbed yesterday when they came into the Morton Grove county highway police station. Their son Myrwin, who is 4 years old, was missing, they said, and they were afraid he had been kidnaped.

They told Sergt. William Kuntz that earlier in the day they had been at dam No. 1 in the forest preserve and the youngster had been in the wading pool. But there were about 5,000 other folk there and they lost sight of Myrwin. A woman told them she saw him get into a car with a man and woman.

"Wait a minute," said the sergeant, "have you called your home?"

They hadn't. They did. Myrwin was home and asleep, Mrs. Anderson's mother said. She added that a couple has brought the child home after he had fallen into a wading pool and got out, crying, very damp and declaring that he was lost. But he knew where his home was.

BUS DRIVER ROBBED BY GUNMAN.

Robert Lewis, 444 West 98th street, a driver for the Suburban Transit company, was robbed of $25 yesterday by a gunman who boarded his bus at 118th street and the Southwest highway, in Palos township.

CIO UNION CHIEFS DESERT BRIDGES OVER RED RULE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Leaders of four C. I. O. unions today voted to withdraw from Harry Bridges' industrial union council, charging he had brought the council under communist control.

The withdrawing units are the International Ladies' Garment Workers union, United Automobile Workers, United Rubber Workers, and the United Shoe Workers.

BRITISH MISSION EASES TENSION IN CZECH REPUBLIC

Angers Cool as Runciman Tackles Problem.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 7.—Viscount Runciman's mission to Prague as "investigator and mediator" in the Czech government's conflict with the republic's minorities already has had one tangible result in the five days of the mission's existence. The consensus in diplomatic circles is that it has eased central European tension of which Czechoslovakia was the center.

Optimists even have affirmed that some practical working bargain will be achieved by the government and Konrad Henlein's Sudeten German [Nazi] party which is demanding autonomy for the German minority of 3,250,000 persons.

None, however, say the Sudeten problem will be "solved" in the sense that an arrangement will be found which will leave every one happy. The chances of that literally are nonexistent.

Staf Examines Material.

While Runciman was resting over the week-end in a castle in Moravia, his staf in Prague was examining heaps of material showered on them by the government, the Sudeten Germans, and other minorities.

The unofficial British peace mission and the Sudeten Germans agree substantially on the material facts of the problem. The trouble begins with the interpretation of the facts and with the conflict aroused by opposing prejudices and passions.

Having established this much, Runciman's assistants are concerned with reducing the material on hand to a few pertinent concepts which their chief may use to obtain practical results. They have no intention, however, to rush toward conclusions.

Favors Leisurely Pace.

Runciman favors a leisurely pace if for no other reason than that it gives anger a chance to cool off. The London government regards every day that war is postponed a victory.

No one in Runciman's party has any illusions about peace being brought to Czechoslovakia by a few kind words from both sides and by exhortations to be neighborly and reasonable.

Only something substantial, such as a British guarantee, would allay Czech fears that concessions to the Sudeten Germans would be used as an implement to further the designs attributed to Berlin to detach the Sudeten territory from Czechoslovakia.

3 Die, 12 Hurt When Fire Sweeps a Rooming House

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Three persons burned to death and at least twelve were injured when fire swept a two story rooming house in the west end section of Sacramento this morning. Police said the fire may have been started by a maniac. There were thirty-five persons in the building.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

HUNT 2 SUSPECTS AS ASSASSINS OF ALDERMAN'S AIDS

Friends of Victims Put Police on Trail.

Police early today were definitly on the trail of two men, whose names they now know, as the suspected murderers of Leo [Cowboy] Mosinski and Bruno [Jeff] Switaj, ward workers for Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski of the 32d ward. They were shot to death in their car in front of the alderman's home at 1349 Noble street at 6:30 a. m. Saturday.

The suspects visited with their victims twice early Saturday morning and trailed them at least once. Additional clews to the murders were given to Capt. Patrick O'Shea of the Racine avenue station by John Janowski, 37 years old, owner of a tavern at 1346 Cleaver street, and Paul Borski, also 37, of 1542 Bosworth avenue.

Janowski was with Mosinski and Switaj twenty-five minutes before they were slain. Borski was with them only fifteen minutes before.

Four Meet in Tavern.

Mosinski and Switaj, Capt. O'Shea said, visited Janowski's tavern early Saturday and met Janowski and Borski there. The four men left together after the closing hour and went to the Wicker Park inn, 1958 North avenue. The time was after 3 a. m. The visit was confirmed by the bartender and cashier of the saloon.

Shortly afterward the two men now being sought joined the four men in the Wicker Park inn. After a while Mosinski, Switaj, Janowski, and Borski drove to another tavern. The two men followed and rejoined them. Some time later the four men in the original party left for a hamburger sandwich stand on North Western avenue. They did not see the two men.

Take Friends Home.

Mosinski and Switaj drove Janowski home at 6:05 a. m. and took Borski home at 6:15. They then drove to a spot in front of Ald. Rostenkowski's home and were sleeping in their car when they were shot. Police this morning refused to identify the suspects or to reveal their conversations at the two meetings.

A strange twist had been given to the case earlier in the day. It was learned that Joseph [Snowball] Mulewski, who was questioned with Mosinski in June about bombings and vandalism in the April primary election campaign, was a bartender in the tavern owned by the alderman's wife, Percella. Mulewski is Mosinski's brother-in-law.

He's Out of Town.

Joseph Sitkowski, who operates the tavern, admitted that Mulewski is a bartender in the place, but said Sunday was his day off and that Mulewski was out of town. Where he was Saturday, when police were turning over the neighborhood in search of him, was not determined.

Ald. Rostenkowski, who left for his summer home at Genoa City, Wis., as soon as the bodies had been moved, said yesterday that Mosinski and Switaj were "quiet boys" who had no political connections that would have served as a motive for their deaths.

"They were just two boys around the neighborhood," said the alderman. "Switaj was good to his family; Mosinski was kind to his wife and daughter. Why, he used to take them walking."

Earlier, however, he had called them his "lieutenants." Police said both were Rostenkowski's precinct captains.

Mosinski lived with his wife and daughter at 1419 Noble street. Switaj was unmarried and lived with his mother and a married sister, Mrs. Blanche Glinka, at 1369 Potomac avenue.

Called Careless

MRS. ORSON D. MUNN.

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The district attorney of Long Island's giltedge summer colony section tonight called careless millionaires and gregarious servants partly responsible for a series of at least seven jewel robberies this season. Total loot amounts to about $200,000.

Burrowing with admitted lack of results into the $50,000 theft at the Orson Munn home Friday night, Suffolk county District Attorney Fred Munder remarked ruefully that the summer colonists had the habit of going to the beach and leaving their houses open, whereupon their servants go visiting, giving burglars their chance.

Munn is the socially prominent publisher of Scientific American magazine and his wife is a former Ziegfeld Follies beauty. He was cautioned against removing the valuable jewels from a safety deposit box. They were not insured.

Close Viaduct at Halsted and Kinzie Sts. Today

Trafic over the Halsted street viaduct above the Milwaukee railroad tracks at Kinzie street will be halted at 8 a. m. today for about three weeks. One sidewalk will be left open to pedestrians. The closing is necessary, City Engineer Loran D. Gayton said, to permit the railroad to make repairs to the viaduct.

EXECUTORS TELL WHY THEY FIGHT SIDLEY INQUEST

Seek to Block Testimony on Mental Condition.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Four executors of the estate of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, today told why they oppose an inquest into her death by Canadian authorities. Mrs. Sidley died July 6 in Toronto, where she had been a guest in the home of W. Perkins Bull, lawyer and financier, for more than a year.

The fifth executor of the estate, who is urging Canadian authorities to press the inquest, which has been interrupted by injunction proceedings, is William Horlick Sidley, only son of the eccentric heiress who left an estate of several million dollars. The Ontario attorney general ordered the inquest after young Sidley had conferred with the coroner in Toronto.

Brother Opposes Inquest.

One of the four executors who are opposing the Toronto inquest is William Horlick, a brother of Mrs. Sidley. The other three—Bernard F. Magruder, an official of the Horlick Malted Milk company; Miss Andrea Pultz, private secretary to William Horlick, and Col. Roy F. Farrand, headmaster of St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wis.—were Mrs. Sidley's friends and associates for many years.

Their opposition to an inquiry, which they might be expected to desire on the grounds of friendship for the dead woman, is explained on legal grounds.

The Toronto inquest is opposed, it is stated, to prevent testimony concerning Mrs. Sidley's mental condition during the year before her death from becoming a matter of record. Such testimony could be used in an expected contest over a division of her fortune.

Magruder Explains Stand.

Mr. Magruder, who for years was financial adviser and agent for Mrs. Sidley, voiced the objections to the inquest today. Magruder, who was named executor under Mrs. Sidley's will, executed last April in Bull's home, acted as spokesman for his three colleagues.

"First of all we oppose the inquest," said he, "because the cause of her death already has been established by autopsy as a brain disease.

"If any other matters are to be investigated the executors of her estate want the case to be put before courts where their lawyers may cross-examine all witnesses. If facts are to be ascertained, both sides should be represented.

"If the inquest goes on in Toronto only the crown lawyers may call witnesses and ask questions. The executors would not be able to get their side of the story into the record."

Magruder said that D. L. McCarthy, Toronto lawyer representing the four executors, had expressed their objections when on July 26 he protested in Toronto against the opening hearing of the inquest.

Doctors' Report Cited.

At that time McCarthy said:

"My clients have satisfied themselves that the cause of death was as reported to them by the doctors, 'a lesion of the upper part of the spinal cord and of the brain stem, resulting in attacks of respiratory paralysis.' Under no circumstances could this have been brought about by anything other than natural causes.

"They resent the obvious effort by certain persons to foster this unseemly and indecent controversy in regard to Mrs. Sidley's mental capacities, or capacity to make a will. To drag these factors into these inquisitional proceedings is improper and contrary to the public interest, unfair and unjust to the memory of the deceased and to those of her relatives who loved and respected her."

MASSMEETING CALLED TO STUDY OVERSUPPLY OF WISCONSIN CABBAGE

Racine, Wis., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—A massmeeting has been called for tomorrow night by W. R. Tysen of the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, who was sent here to investigate the oversupply of cabbage.

Racine, Milwaukee, and Kenosha county growers, who have 12,000 acres in cabbage, appealed to the corporation last week when they failed to find a market for their crop, which is of record size. More than 145,000 tons are expected to be harvested by October.

Before the meeting Tysen will confer with agricultural agents from the three southeastern Wisconsin counties.

FARMERS BLAST RULE BY LABOR; ASK EVEN BREAK

Protest Special Legal Rights of Unions.

rector for the labor board, started mediation that was halted abruptly on June 28 when 500 farmer patrons of the Richland plant ejected seven union employés and persuaded others to sign an agreement that they would not join a labor union.

Clark Charges Interference.

Clark charged directors of the cooperative and the farmers with interfering with the labor board.

"We are not going to be buffaloed by a bunch of farmers with pitchforks," said Clark, who called the coöperative a capitalistic organization similar to any other industry because it employed a manager and paid dividends, if any, to the farmer owners. He added that the farmer became a capitalist the moment he drove off his property with a load of produce to sell. He also said a farmer is a capitalist because he has from $15,000 to $20,000 invested in farm land, herds, and other property.

But the Richland Center farmers were not bluffing. They said they would not permit union organization of their plant and they meant it. Clark finally withdrew his charges of interference with the labor board.

Coöp Faces Liquidation.

Negotiations still are pending, without any settlement in sight, and the coöperative gradually is moving toward liquidation, according to Fred Higgins, chairman of the coöperative board. Much of the milk that formerly went to Richland Center now is going to a powder plant at Elroy for drying and another 25,000 pounds daily is going to a casein plant at Hillsboro. Only about 700 of the plant's former 1,100 patrons remain.

Throughout the negotiations only two concessions have been made by John Picago, business agent for the union. He has agreed to the principle of the open shop and that the plant need not reëmploy two men whose reinstatement was demanded by the labor board.

"The $150 a month wage scale demanded by the union for plant employés is more than the farmers get from their herds," Higgins said today. "Granting a 44-hour work week and two weeks vacation with pay would mean doubling the staf, and the peculiarity of the creamery industry makes early and late hours necessary to handle the product."

Oppose Seniority Demand.

Most of the plant employés are opposed to the union demand for seniority as a basis for pay increases and promotion, according to State Representative Verne W. Thompson, counsel for the coöperative. "The men want to make efficiency, not seniority, the test," he said.

Higgins said liquidation of the creamery would force milk producers to seek another market and that the only solution appeared to be enlargement of cheese factories in the community to take care of the milk volume.

Another case in point where a labor organization has injured the farmers economically, the agricultural council was told, occurred in Racine county, where virtually the entire spinach crop was lost this year because a labor organization kept the Franksville canning factory closed when the crop should have been harvested.

Crop Goes to Seed.

By tying up the factory for weeks, labor allowed the crop to go to seed and it was necessary to plow most of it under.

The executive board of the agricultural council includes Herman Ihde of Neenah, president; William H. Hutter of Spring Green, vice president; Charles Dineen of Milwaukee, secretary; F. W. Suntzicker of Greenwood, treasurer; and R. H. Eberdt of Sparta, Joseph Schwartz of Spring Green, and H. W. Glocke of Weyauwega, directors.

According to Ihde, when the Wisconsin labor relations law was proposed farm organizations were told that agriculture need have no fears—that there never would be any interference with the farmers. The law hardly was on the statute books until farmers began having difficulties in Richland Center and other places with outside labor organizers.

Farmers Fear Ruin.

"We farmers," said Ihde, "feel that if we have to continue operating under present national and state labor laws we will never get our feet on the ground financially. Nationally labor is only half employed and agriculture is being forced to carry the load for the entire country.

"Millions of jobs would be available in agriculture provided the wage scale was such that farmers could afford to pay it. Farmers buy 40 per cent of the products of industry, but now the farmer cannot afford to buy anything.

"With an investment of from $15,000 to $25,000 in herds, machinery, and real estate, the farmer is lucky if he can make from $1.50 to $2 a day and he has to work from 12 to 15 hours to do it. Farmers recognize the right of labor to organize and we have no quarrel with organized labor, provided it has the right type of leaders, reasonable men who can see what the farmer has to do to make a bare living.

"What we object to is the labor racketeers who make absurd demands—demands that no farmer can meet—and then they crack down on us with state and federal laws."

Stand Is Unanimous.

Adoption of the council's platform condemning operation of state and federal labor laws was unanimous. The council represents producers of every farm product of Wisconsin, the state grange, the farm bureau federation, the County Agents' association, and the vocational agricultural instructors.

Coöperatives included in the council represent milk producers, cheese manufacturers, fruit growers, cranberry growers, tobacco growers, wool growers, live stock sellers, produce exchanges, creameries, and an oil co-op. The coöperatives are located in all parts of the state.

450 CIVILIANS AND POLICE PREPARE FOR PISTOL SHOOT

About 450 marksmen from Chicago and Cook county will complete next Saturday and Sunday in a police and civilian pistol shoot to be held at the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. Rifle and Pistol club, Harlem avenue and 52d street. City and Park district police will shoot for a trophy donated by Mayor Kelly. Other policemen and civilians entered in the ten events will compete for the Newton C. Farr cup. One event will be designed to prepare Chicago contestants for the annual police shoot to be held at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Women entries include Mrs. Joyce Englert, 1305 East 63d street; Mrs. Astrid Soderlund, 7434 Vernon avenue; Mrs. Ralph Larson, 7717 Calumet avenue, and Mrs. Virginia McGuinn of Thornton, Ill. Mrs. McGuinn, winner of fifth place last year in slow shooting at the U. S. Grant matches at Rockford and the National Rifle Club pistol shoot, is considered one of the best women pistol shots in the country.

Many of the contestants got in practice rounds yesterday on the club range.

Ickes Engineers Will Begin Studies of Subway Today

Four engineers who will decide the fate of Chicago's present subway plans will hold their first meeting here today. They were appointed a week ago by Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes. He holds the purse strings on the city's request for a $14,328,000 PWA grant. The engineers will meetin the Civic Opera building.

More than 98% of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

7 ARE INJURED IN COLLISION OF 3 AUTOMOBILES

Seven persons were injured yesterday in a collision of three automobiles at Skokie boulevard and Lake avenue, Wilmette. They were Paul Bukantis, 28 years old, 907 West 20th place, and his companion, Charles Galbany, 28, of 915 Cullerton street; C. O. Husting, 34, of 2814 Garrison street, Evanston, and his wife, Jane, 32; and Leo Siegan, 20, of 3652 Lawrence avenue; Joseph Schatz, 23, of 3505 Wilson avenue, and Hyman Zaslavsky, 19, of 3658 Lawrence avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 492 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 379 were killed in Chicago, where 11,302 were injured in the same period.

GIRL TO TESTIFY FOR FATHER IN MURDER TRIAL

South Paris, Me., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Barbara Carroll, 18 years old, rested on the lawn of her modest home today in preparation for her appearance on the witness stand to defend her father, Francis M. Carroll, against her former sweetheart's accusation of murder.

Carroll's counsel said Barbara would take the stand with other members of the former deputy's family to testify against the charge of Paul N. Dwyer that Carroll killed Dr. James G. Littlefield and his wife. Dwyer, who confessed the slayings and was sentenced to serve life imprisonment, later charged that the murders were committed by Carroll.

Carroll originally was arrested on a morals charge involving Barbara, who was Dwyer's sweetheart.

DEDICATE $100,000 SWIMMING POOL IN FOREST PARK

Forest Park's new $100,000 swimming pool was dedicated last night by champion swimmers and divers and the girls' water ballet from the Medinah Athletic club. The pool is illuminated by flood and submarine lights. The 800,000 gallons of water are constantly filtered and changed each eight hours. The pool is 230 feet long and 180 feet wide, and varies in depth from one to nine and a half feet. The pool is part of a half million dollar recreational project sponsored by the park district of Forest Park with the aid of PWA funds. It is located on 17 acres in the central part of the village, south of the Aurora and Elgin tracks, between Harlem and Des Plaines avenues.

CHICAGO ALIENS RUSH TO COURT FOR CITIZENSHIP

Naturalization Figures Double in 3 Years.

A rush by aliens of the Chicago area to become citizens of the United States was shown yesterday by the annual report of Fred Schlotfeldt, director of this federal naturalization district.

Citizenship certificates issued here during the fiscal year ending June 30 were more than double those issued in the corresponding period of 1933-34. Substantial increases were shown also for the year of 1936-37.

The reasons for this movement to the naturalization courts are varied, according to Schlotfeldt, but they all fit into the pattern of a changing civilization. Many new laws of the last four years have affected the alien, though some of them were not especially designed to do so.

Reasons Are Listed.

Among these Schlotfeldt lists as the most significant the Illinois permanent registration law, the old age pension act, the federal law requiring all government employés to prove citizenship, and the requirement that WPA workers take steps toward becoming citizens. In addition, the refusal of many employers to hire aliens and the political disturbances in the immigrants' native lands have been important contributing factors.

In the Chicago area during the last fiscal year 19,832 aliens were naturalized, against 9,488 in the period ending in 1934. Immigrants from Poland led the list with 3,505 naturalizations against 1,311 in 1934. Next, in order, were Germans, Italians, Yugo-Slavians, Czechoslovakians, Russians, Swedes, Canadians, Irish, Lithuanians, and English.

Increases From Other Nations.

Heavy increases over the 1934 period also were noted among the nationals of Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Greece, Hungary, Iran (Persia), The Netherlands, Norway, and Rumania.

The Chicago naturalization district includes the ten northwestern counties of Indiana, the northern half of Illinois, eastern Iowa, and that part of Wisconsin northeast from Chicago to and including Florence county, then angling southwestward to Prairie du Chien, Wis.

Of the 19,832 admitted to citizenship, 11,743 lived in Chicago, Schlotfeldt stated. The remaining 8,089 lived outside the city. Men made up 12,063 of the total. Five hundred seven of those naturalized were expatriated Americans who had appealed for restoration of their citizenship.

Ill Several Months, He Sits Up and Shoots Self

Clarence C. Miles, who had been confined to his bed with lingering ills for some months at his home, 8130 Kenneth avenue, Niles Center, sat up last night long enough to shoot himself through the head. His wife and two children were in the home at the time. He was 46 years old and a former real estate operator.

RED ARMY MOVES ON CHEYENNE IN BATTLE EXERCISE

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Beginning tomorrow morning a Red army will move against railroad and aviation facilities of Cheyenne in a test of the military efficiency of troops of the Rocky mountain area. The city will be defended by a Blue army of equal strength, charged with the duty of repulsing the attack for a week. Fifty umpires will decide the winner.

Brig. Gen. Ernest N. Peek, commander of the 3d army reserve, will direct the maneuver with a large staf of officers. Brig. Gen. W. E. Gunther of the Colorado National Guard is commander of the Red army and Col. R. C. Hill of the 20th United States infantry will direct the defense.

SKELETON ARMY TO REPEL ATTACK BY MYTHICAL FOE

Test Chicago's Defense Against Invasion.

Imagine that nine southeastern states allied themselves with a foreign power, declared war on the rest of the United States, and sent a great army north to seize Chicagoland's industries.

That is what officers of the 2d army, commanded by Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum of Chicago, say has happened—for the purpose of a war game. The army of the Black state, as they have named it, is massed on the Tennessee-Kentucky border for the invasion of Illinois, Indiana, and Ohio. This territory to the north is called the Blue state.

The zero hour will come between Sept. 18 and 23. Then the summer war maneuvers of the United States army will be climaxed in a great map battle directed from Fort Knox, Ky. Some 500 officers and 2,000 enlisted men of the 5th and 6th corps areas will take part in the engagement, which is called a CPX, or command post exercise.

Paper Strength of 120,000.

The 5th area is comprised of Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, and West Virginia; the 6th, of Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, regularly commanded by Gen. Drum. The regular army, National Guard, and organized reserve units of these two areas comprise the 2d army, one of the several which would be mobilized in time of war. Only the 2d army will figure in the mythical defense of Chicagoland. The 1st army will be defending the industrial east.

Gen. Drum's force—the Blue army—will have a paper strength of 120,000. On the march, this number would be costly and of limited value to the tacticians.

Brig. Gen. Walter E. Prosser, 2d army chief of staf, pointed out that peacetime soldiers haven't the physical strength of men trained for war. Moreover, in war time, guns, tanks, and trucks roll over Farmer Brown's cornfield if convenient, but in peace time there would be war if they did.

Each division staf and each signal corps will take a combat position, however, under orders of the GHQ at Fort Knox. Only the 7th mechanized cavalry brigade and combat and attack aviation will actually maneuver over the battlefield along the Ohio river.

Umpires to Say Who Won.

Officers representing the enemy, and others acting as umpires, will map the Black's offense and afterward inform the Blue whether it has countered successfully. The battle of orders will cover everything from transportation of troops to the supply of ammunition.

The army's new facsimile radio telegraph and teletype signal communications will enable the GHQ officers to reproduce and distribute battle maps, messages, and even photographs simultaneously to widely scattered commands.

In May the government's gold vaults at Fort Knox were defended by the 7th cavalry brigade against this same imaginary Black army.

War Games Problem

(Story in adjoining column.)

The 2d army is preparing for September maneuvers. The problem presupposes that the states in black have aligned themselves with a foreign power and declared war on the United States. Their forces theoretically have begun marching northward to capture Chicagoland's industries, defended by the blue army. The 1st army will defend the industrial east.

SEN. LEWIS HAILS STATE TROOPS AS PEACE GUARDIANS

Speaks at Camp Grant on Visitors' Day Program.

Camp Grant, Ill., Aug. 7.—(Special.)—Speaking before 9,500 members of the Illinois National Guard and several thousand visitors here today, United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis said that the peace of America is largely due to an efficient National Guard and regular army.

Regardless of war and preparation for war in Europe and Asia, he said, "America will remain calm and tranquil—at peace with ourselves and with our neighbor nations." He gave high praise to the Illinois National Guard.

The senator was introduced by Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commander of the 33d division and attached troops. The ceremony, held in Garrity woods, included an invocation and benediction by the division chaplains, Lieut. Col. Arthur Ewert and Lieut. Col. Arthur Girard, and patriotic music by a massed band of 400 pieces.

In the afternoon 20,000 persons watched a spectacular military show directed by Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond in the Bell bowl natural stadium.

After his address Senator Lewis and other guests, including D. R. Kennicott, regional director of the WPA, and Brig. Gen. Manus McCloskey, director of the Cook County hospital, were guests at a luncheon at division headquarters.

Prosecutor and 2 Friends Are Killed in Auto Crash

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Three men, including the state's attorney of Ballard county, Ky., were killed today in a headon automobile-truck collision thirteen miles north of here. The state's attorney was Noyl Rodgers, 40, of Wickliffe, Ky., the other two were Marvin Watson, 30, Cairo tavern operator, and Earl Porter, a clerk, of Cairo. Cairo police said the truck driver was unhurt. The three who were killed were riding in the Rodgers car.

POLICEMAN TO TRY TO PICK OUT TWO PICKPOCKETS TODAY

Park Policeman Lloyd Wiesch, who wants to get his $170 back, will go to the detective bureau today to look at photographs of known pickpockets. While returning from the Washington park race track on an Illinois Central train Saturday with his winnings, Wiesch had his pocket picked of the $170. It happened at the Kensington station.

Wiesch grabbed the thief, but two accomplices in turn seized him. After a scuffle in which the thief escaped, the two men and Wiesch rode to the 63d street station. There Conductor Albert Huedepohl turned the pickpocket suspects over to James Love, uniformed railroad guard. But Love, believing the men merely had been raising a disturbance on the train, released them.

WPA Watchman Arrested for Threats to Anglers

James Potenzi, 65 years old, 428 South Oakley boulevard, a WPA watchman in Grant park, was arrested by park police last night after he had allegedly threatened two fishermen with a revolver. They are Lawrence Zaccone, 1531 Fillmore street, and Russell McMillen, 3534 Parnell avenue. Police said the watchman tried to stop Zaccone from using an old bench while fishing at 11th street. When McMillen sided with Zaccone, Potenzi, police said, drew his gun. Police questioned Potenzi's right to carry a gun, but booked him only for assault with a gun.

Kentucky Anti-Labor Plot Attorney Shot Near Heart

Pineville, Ky., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Dr. Charles D. Stacey said tonight he had treated N. R. Patterson, 60 years old, one of the attorneys for the defense at the recent Harlan anti-labor conspiracy trial, for a gunshot wound. Dr. Stacey said the wound was directly beneath Patterson's heart, and added that Patterson told him he had been despondent. Patterson, once mayor of Pineville, is in a critical condition at Pineville Memorial hospital.

TICKETS PLEASE

By CALEB

A MAP OF the Sahara Desert and its caravan routes hangs beside the photograph of an air liner in flight high above a sleeping countryside. Charts and tables line the walls and bulge from drawers and cabinets.

Behind a big desk sits a man who seldom travels far, but who last year bought tickets on train, boat, bus and plane good for more than three million miles of travel through and over almost every known country on the globe. Name a city or an obscure nation—and he'll tell you quickly how to get there, about how much it will cost, and what clothes or equipment to take.

This man is the head of our foreign and traffic office and one important part of his work is helping Field buyers reach the distant points where the promise of fine goods and unusual purchase lures them. Everyone in the department speaks with easy familiarity of such far places as Sydney, Samarkand, India, Buenos Aires, London and Paris.

Nor does the simple matter of buying a ticket end their duties. After each buyer has sketched his objective in merchandise and locale, the foreign and traffic office furnishes a detailed itinerary—and even more important, an estimate of the "landed cost" for the merchandise involved.

"Landed cost" is the total sum that must be invested in goods bought at some distant point to land them in our store at Chicago. Knowing the type of merchandise involved, an estimate of transportation costs is first set up. But in addition such things as foreign exchange, fiscal developments, trade treaties, political conditions, trade limitations by quotas or commodity exchange requirements must be considered. Finally, all duties or taxes involved here and abroad must be tabulated in advance. Sources of information are listed by the hundreds, available at a moment's notice. Armed with this information, a buyer more readily determines the price he can reasonably pay for the merchandise he wants.

Thus in fascinating detail the foreign and traffic office deals habitually with far countries, for the world is its daily arena. Each time a rare and fine piece of imported merchandise is displayed in the store, this capable group has played a part in the achievement, its behind-the-scenes activity supplementing the skilled efforts of Field buyers and agents the world over.

SEE ROOSEVELT READY FOR NEW PURGE ATTEMPT

Expect President to Take Slap at George.

sides on Thursday, when he will speak at Barnesville, dedicating a rural electrification project, and at Athens, where he is to receive an honorary degree from the University of Georgia.

Managers of the campaign of Representative David J. Lewis, hand-picked administration candidate against Senator Millard E. Tydings in Maryland, are predicting that Mr. Roosevelt will make a speech in Lewis' behalf.

Three 100 Per Centers Face Test.

The issue of 100 per cent subservience to the President is involved in three senatorial primaries to be held this week. The three 100 per centers are Senator Hattie W. Caraway of Arkansas, Senator Robert J. Bulkley of Ohio, and Senator James P. Pope of Idaho. All three contests will be decided Tuesday.

So far, all 100 per centers have come through successfully in senatorial primary contests with the exception of Senator Herbert E. Hitchcock of South Dakota, who was defeated by another 100 per center. Likewise, all senators marked for the purge have been renominated in primaries held to date. Moreover, the purge backfired in Virginia, where 100 per center William E. Dodd Jr. was overwhelmingly defeated in his effort to unseat Representative Howard W. Smith, and Representative Norman R. Hamilton, a 100 per center, was defeated by former Representative Colgate W. Darden, a conservative, anti-Roosevelt man.

ACCUSE CHANDLER DOCTOR

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Chief of Police John Malley said tonight an ordinance warant had been served on Dr. J. W. Bryan, Louisville physician who diagnosed Gov. A. B. [Happy] Chandler's recent illness as "poisoning."

The warant, Malley said, charges Dr. Bryan with violation of a city ordinance which requires that a physician attending a victim of poisoning report the case to the chief of police within two hours.

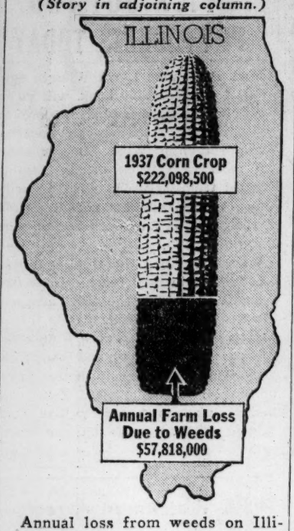
Dr. Bryan's diagnosis, later confirmed by State Health Commissioner Dr. A. T. McCormack, cast a bombshell into the recent Democratic senatorial campaign between Chandler and Senator Alben W. Barkley, who on the basis of incomplete and unofficial returns was the victor in yesterday's primary balloting by an estimated majority of 50,000. When counting was stopped at midnight last night 3,336 of the state's 4,313 precincts gave Barkley 225,045 votes and Chandler 186,780.

Maximum penalty upon conviction of the charge against Dr. Bryan is $100 fine and revocation of a physician's license to practice within the city.

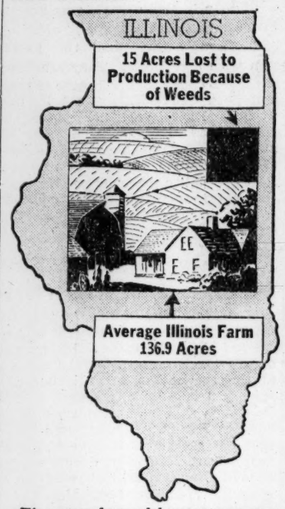
Malley said issuance of the warant had been delayed until after the primary. He recently was criticized by the Louisville civil service board for terming Dr. Bryan's diagnosis "a political bedtime story."

Weed Toll on Farms

(Story in adjoining column.)



Annual loss from weeds on Illinois farms compared with the value of the 1937 Illinois corn crop, at 50 cents a bushel.



The annual weed loss on an average Illinois farm is equal to the value of the crops produced on fifteen acres of its area.

Mediation to Be Attempted in Rockford Furniture Row

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Maj. Charles F. Brown will attempt to mediate a dispute between Rockford furniture factories and local 707, United Furniture Workers union, to prevent a number of threatened strikes, he announced today.

STATE TO GRANT NO ARMISTICE IN WAR ON WEEDS

Continue Campaign Until End of Season.

For hay fever victims The Tribune today begins a daily report on the ragweed pollen count in Chicago and vicinity, as gathered by the allergy committee of the Chicago Medical society. The figures will be published daily in the weather table on Page 1.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

No armistice is in sight in Illinois' war against weeds, the domestic enemy that causes an annual loss estimated at 57 million dollars in the state. J. H. Lloyd, director of the state department of agriculture, yesterday broadcast an appeal to landowners to continue until the end of the season the weed destruction campaign set for Aug. 1 to 15 by Gov. Horner.

Mr. Lloyd, who is head of the weed control advisory committee, appointed by the governor, said reports from field men and coöperating agencies indicate that work in the second annual campaign has been effective.

Act Before Seeds Form.

The committee urged landowners, both rural and urban, to clean up neglected land promptly before pollen and seeds are formed. Ragweed pollen, which causes hay fever, started drifting into Chicago last week, and in about two weeks the hay fever season will be in full swing.

Agronomists of the weed committee point out that weeds are dangerous to health, reduce farm income, and detract from the appearance of the landscape, thus lowering the value of property. It is estimated that fifteen acres are lost to production because of weeds on the average Illinois farm of approximately 137 acres.

$57,000,000 Annual Loss.

The annual loss due to weeds is estimated at about $250 per farm. This would total more than 57 million dollars in Illinois. The weed loss is equal to more than one-fourth the value of the state's 1937 corn crop, estimated at about 222 million dollars.

L. A. Moore, in charge of the weed program, estimates that Illinois has more than 100,000 acres of Canada thistles.

The United States Chamber of Commerce estimates that the annual weed loss in the nation is about 3 billion dollars, twelve times the loss from animal diseases.

BURKE PREDICTS STRONGER STAND IN NEXT SESSION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A prediction of firmer opposition to administration legislation in the next session of congress came today from Senator Edward R. Burke [D., Neb.], often a critic of Roosevelt policies.

Burke said that administration efforts to prevent the renomination of some Democratic senators, who at times opposed legislation suggested by the White House, had failed.

"The purge has collapsed," he declared, "and when this fact becomes apparent I think the effect will be to stiffen the opposition of some of those who were on the border line, as well as those who were marked for elimination."

BLAME INFECTED TOOTH FOR DEATH.

An infected tooth was given yesterday as the apparent cause of the death of Clarence Stout, 26 years old, 6939 East End avenue. Stout, an unemployed clerk, had had the tooth removed Friday.

M'ADOO'S RIVAL FILES CHARGES OF U. S. AIDS BEING SHAKEN DOWN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—James W. Mellen of Los Angeles, Cal., has filed charges with the senate campaign expenditures committee that employés in the office of the internal revenue collector at San Francisco have been shaken down for the campaign fund of Senator William G. McAdoo [D., Cal.].

Mellen is running against McAdoo in the latter's campaign for renomination in the Democratic primary.

In a statement made public here, he said he had sent the committee a document describing a meeting in the federal building at San Francisco at which employés received notice of a request for contributions to the McAdoo campaign.

SENATOR HIRES OWN EXPERT TO PRESS TVA QUIZ

Weary of Speeches; Says He Wants Facts.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Indications that the investigation of TVA is moving too slowly to to suit members of the congressional committee came to the surface tonight when Senator James J. Davis [R., Pa.] announced he had employed his own investigator.

Senator J. J. Davis. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

The senator said he was weary of listening to speeches from TVA officials and staf members and carrying away bales of mimeographed statements from the hearings while so far the surface has only been scratched on the TVA yardstick, reputedly set up to measure fair rates by private utilities. A group of friends in Pittsburgh, he said, have helped him finance employment of M. C. Conick, a certified accountant, of Pittsburgh, who is to start digging tomorrow.

Donahey Applauds Action.

Senator Vic Donahey [D., O.], applauded Davis' action and said he would give Conick credentials giving him access to TVA records. In past years Conick has made investigations under auspices of citizen groups that led to the retirement of Pennsylvania officials, municipal, and state.

Senator Davis shares the views of Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed TVA chairman, that a searching investigation of TVA affairs is 80 per cent an accounting and auditing problem. The staf of the congressional committee, he holds, is too small for the job. Some of its members have been borrowed from various government departments. Francis Biddle, counsel for the committee, has been given the loan of four or five lawyers from Washington departments. Thomas A. Panter, engineer for the committee, is assembling a staf and expects this week to have two engineers start a long technical investigation.

Members of the committee fear the inquiry soon may be crippled by insufficient funds. Congress appropriated $50,000 for the job, but the task of delving into the operations of TVA an ultimate half billion dollar experiment, is a mammoth one. Davis says perhaps less than $20,000 is left of the funds.

Chairman Donahey says the hearings here probably will continue to about Sept. 1, after which they will be continued in Washington.

Wants Yardstick Information.

"The committee has been doing a splendid job," said Senator Davis, "but the task before us is a stupendous one. And so far we have not got far into fundamentals like the TVA yardstick, the allocations of cost of this enterprise as among navigation, flood control, and hydro power. That's what prompted me to employ, with the aid of a few friends, my own special investigator. In my opinion this job is 80 to 85 per cent auditing and accounting. We're trying to find the real true yardstick of electric rates. We want to find the actual amount of money spent on this experiment.

"All the information we have been getting has come from TVA, not from material dug up by committee investigators. At great length the controversy between Arthur Morgan and Directors Harcourt A. Morgan and David E. Lilienthal has been aired. We've not got deep into the fundamentals, although much illuminating matter has been developed, such as phosphate land deal and the low price contract with the Aluminum company.

Rates Termed Too Low.

"Arthur Morgan says the rates may be 30 per cent too low. Representative Charles Wolverton [R., N. J.] figured if this is so, in 15 years this Aluminum company contract would mean a loss of five million dollars to TVA. But we've got to reach deep and find out ourselves how the rates are made, how much of these vast expenditures are to be chalked up to navigation and flood control instead of to power.

"I've got five secretaries in Washington, but no committee member has one here, because expenses are not paid. It's impossible for a member to sit all day in a hearing, then read the transcript and the voluminous manuscripts, statements, reports, statistical sheets that have been shoveled in, and digest them. So I've hired Conick to do that work for me as an expert and to make his own investigation on important phases."

Representative Wolverton, who has developed into the chief cross-examiner of the committee, says Davis's investigator will be an aid to him in preparing his interrogation.

Family Grows

Mr. and Mrs. Morton Downey.

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—It's a boy at the Morton Downey's. And that makes the fourth son for the Irish tenor. He has one daughter. There is an extra son too, adopted by Downey and his wife, the former Barbara Bennett, several years ago. The latest arrival in the Downey family was born Saturday. He weighed five and one half pounds and was named Kevin Peter.

PRESIDENT HEARS SERVICE ON SHIP; SAILS FOR HOME

ABOARD THE U. S. S. HOUSTON, Aug. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt attended church services aboard the cruiser Houston today while the vessel steamed northwestward toward Caribbean waters. The services were conducted by Lieut. H. R. Trump, navy chaplain.

Soon after the cruiser sailed away from Old Providence Island yesterday on the last leg of its homeward journey Mr. Roosevelt received the following message from officials of the Colombian government on duty there:

"Your visit to our island is a landmark in our history and is deeply appreciated by us all. Bon voyage and a tight line."

The reference to a "tight line" was a way of wishing him good fishing luck.

Mr. Roosevelt replied:

"Please express to your government and the authorities of Island of Providencia my pleasure in my visit to this island. I hope I shall be able some day to repeat my interesting stay."

The Houston is to arrive in Pensacola, Fla., Tuesday afternoon, completing a cruise which began in the Pacific.

JAPS DRIVEN OFF DISPUTED LAND, MOSCOW CLAIMS

Warns Tokio to Put End to Warlike Incidents.

the moment of agreement they happen to be on the other side of the line; this line is to be the border marked on maps attached to the Hunchun treaty of 1886 between Russia and China; thus the situation existing prior to July 29 when serious fighting broke out at Changkufeng would be restored; once the border is pacified a mixed commission would go there, composed of two representatives of soviet Russia, one Japanese, and one representative of Manchukuo, and redemarcation of the frontier would begin on the basis of the Hunchun treaty.

Shigemitsu promised to consider the proposal and return later for further discussion.

Ousted From Heights.

A government communique said the Red army ousted Japanese from the Changkufeng heights, which soviet forces occupied on July 11 and where intermittent fighting has taken place since in one of the long series of border disputes between Russia and Japan.

Soviet artillery vigorously answering Japanese attacks in the Changkufeng region blasted the Japanese forces from their positions and cleared soviet territory of all Japanese troops, the government said.

The army's communique for the first time in present frontier warfare was issued under the heading "staf report of the First [Primorsk] army," which to some observers sounded an ominous note. Previous reports had been issued either by Tass, the official news agency, or as informative government bulletins.

The soviet far eastern army is autonomous—free from Moscow's direct control—only in the sense that it is capable of independent action in emergencies with its own organization of supply and own stocks of ammunition. Ordinarily it receives orders from Moscow.

Drive Wedge to River.

YUKI, Corea [Near the Siberian Frontier], Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Japanese army in North Corea tonight conceded that the Russians this morning drove a wedge to the banks of the Tumen river north of Changkufeng.

The Russian drive isolated Japanese troops in the vicinity of the mile wide, four mile long almond shaped heights west of Lake Khassan which Japan claims is part of a finger-like portion of Manchukuo dangling between Russian Siberia and Japan's Corea—and which Russians say is soviet territory.

The only bridge for their retreat, ten miles north, was cut off. Japanese said they still held higher hills north in Manchukuo and west and southwest in Corea, all commanding soviet positions on Changkufeng hill and declared the Russian military position was untenable.

14 RED LEADERS ARE INDICTED IN SECESSION PLOT

MOSCOW, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A conspiracy to separate the Azerbaijan Soviet Socialist republic from the U. S. S. R. was reported today by the newspaper Bakinski Rabotnik of Baku, capital of Azerbaijan.

Black area shows scene of secession plot.

The alleged plot was disclosed in indictments against fourteen persons, mostly agricultural officials. They were charged with conspiring to assassinate communist leaders and promote a separatist movement by wrecking activities. They were accused specifically of scheming to spread anthrax germs among cattle and the population. All but two were said to have signed confessions.

Azerbaijan, with a population of 2,891,000, covers an area of 32,686 square miles in Asiatic Russia.

Anti-Red Rally Resumes After Rioters Are Quelled

Los Angles, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The first western states conference of Anti-Communist Federation of America, called by opponents a Nazi convention, resumed meetings today after a brush last night with anti-Nazi picketers. Police helped quell the demonstration by 5,000 persons after stones were hurled, injuring two newspapermen. The convention is being held here at a German beer hall. Active in its affairs is Henry Allen, recently arrested on charges of distributing inflammatory literature.

QUINTS' THROAT ILLNESS TO KEEP THEM IN A WEEK

CALLANDER, Ont., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Dionne quintuplets are suffering from a throat infection which will keep them under strict care for a week, it was learned tonight. The father, Oliva Dionne, expressed concern about Emilie, who he said, has taken no nourishment since noon, Saturday.

Dr. Allen Roy Dafoe, their physician, announced their illness Saturday. Dr. Alan Brown, Toronto child specialist, who was called in for consultation, said, "I have today examined the Dionne quintuplets and am able to confirm Dr. Dafoe's diagnosis of a mild throat infection, which naturally has been contracted from some focus of infection. On account of their good resistance and stury physiques, they will probably all be better in a week."

WILLIAM VANDIFORD KNOWS TOBACCO from seedling to cigarette. His cigarette is Camel! "Over and over again," says Mr. Vandiford, "Camel has bought my choicest tobacco. Last crop I got $490 an acre. Of course I smoke Camels! So do most of my grower friends."

DAVID ELMER WILLS, TOBACCO GROWER

THE REAL PLEASURE of cigarette smoking is what grower John Durham, Jr. is enjoying. It's a Camel. For, as Mr. Durham states, "I see the tobacco that cigarette companies buy. Camel takes the market's finest—they pay more to get the best of my own crops and of my friends. Knowing tobacco quality, it's Camels for us!"

S. J. BONE CONFIRMS growers' preference for Camels with: "Camels stand ace high with tobacco planters. Camel buys better tobacco planters. Camel buys better tobacco—my own and that of other growers I know."

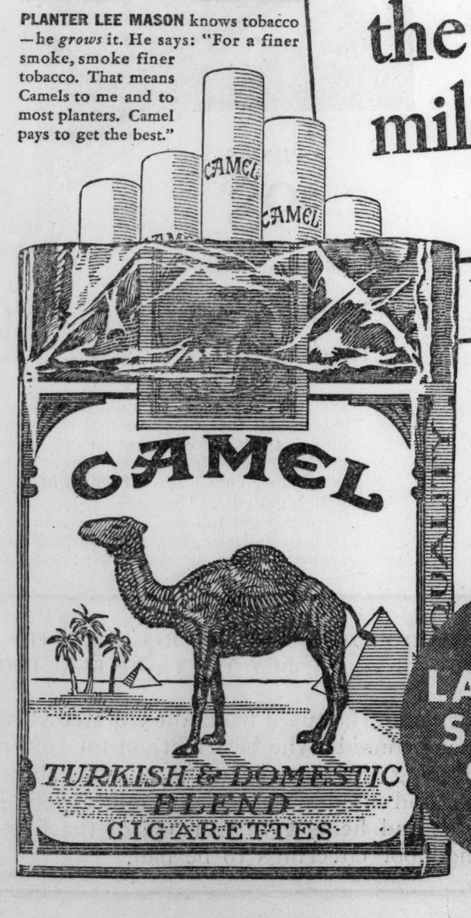
I SELL MY TOBACCO WHERE THEY HANDLE SPECIALLY GOOD GRADES. SALE AFTER SALE, CAMEL BIDS IN THE CHOICE LOTS. SURE I SMOKE CAMELS!
"THIS LAST CROP," says grower Robert Lee Oakley, "Camel bought my best tobacco—as they have many times. Naturally I smoke Camels. So do other planters."

G. A. LANGLEY—NORTH CAROLINA TOBACCO PLANTER

PLANTER LEE MASON knows tobacco—he grows it. He says: "For a finer smoke, smoke finer tobacco. That means Camels to me and to most planters. Camel pays to get the best."

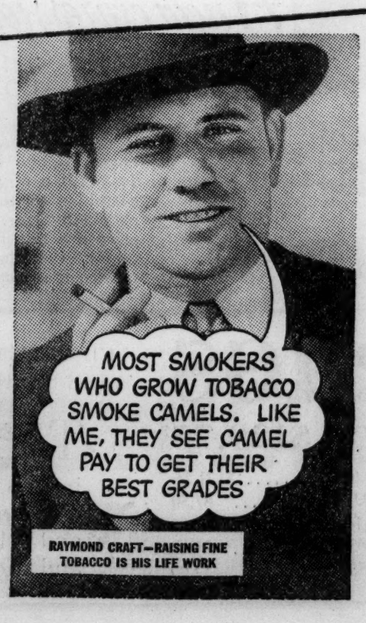
TOBACCO PLANTERS SAY:

"OUR FINEST TOBACCOS... the most richly fragrant and delicately mild varieties—go to Camel—naturally that's the brand we smoke!"



Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA



RAYMOND CRAFT—RAISING FINE TOBACCO IS HIS LIFE WORK

Is there a real difference in the tobacco that goes into various cigarettes? "Yes"—say the men who live with tobacco—the planters themselves. These planters grade their crops long before the warehouse sales. They know who buys their best grades. "Camel," say the typical planters on this page. "—Camel buys our choicest lots!" So, when it comes to selecting a cigarette for their own smoking, it's natural for planters to choose Camel's finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS. Try Camels today! Compare them for their taste, for their special mildness which permits steady smoking.

"A GROWER chooses his smoke by the tobacco cigarette people buy," says Edward Thompson (above). "Time after time Camel buys my best baskets—and those of my friends. 'Course we smoke Camels."

GROWER MARVIN HOLLOMAN (left) speaks as an "insider" on tobacco quality. "Finer tobaccos make a big difference in smoking. Camel takes my real choice lots. So I smoke Camels."

PLOT TO SET UP CANTON PUPPET REGIME EXPOSED

Japs Follow Tactics Used in North China.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 8 [Monday].—(AP)—Chinese sources reported today that secret negotiations had been exposed by which separatists were plotting an independent South China government pledged to close coöperation with Japan.

There was no confirmation of the report in neutral sources. But it long has been known that Japan was attempting to sway South China away from the central government, with tactics in Canton similar to those used in Manchuria and Peking.

Japan, the Chinese declared, was holding out a promise that organization of a coöperative new government would prevent spread of the war to South China and end disastrous aerial bombardments of Canton.

Agents Gather in Hongkong.

Chinese said the negotiations were being carried on by Chen Chung-fu as representative of a group of disgruntled Chinese politicians now in Hongkong. Chen was described as a former chairman of the North China foreign affairs committee and as an influential politician.

Severe fighting, meanwhile, continued on both marshy shores of the Yangtze river. No major change, however, was made in the battle lines about 110 miles downriver from Hankow, China's provisional capital and goal of the Japanese campaign.

Pitched battles were fought at Susung, north of the river, and along the highway where Japanese desperately were attempting to establish hill positions to escape rising Yangtze floods. Under cover of heavy artillery fire, Chinese declared, they repelled a 12 hour Japanese assault on the road's defenders.

On the south bank, a battle continued at Shahochen, south of Kiukiang, 135 miles downstream from Hankow.

Retake Hill Positions.

Chinese counterattacked east of Shahochen and declared they had retaken their original positions on the peak of Tiger hill after bloody all day fighting.

Japanese planes again bombed Nanchang, Chinese air base in central China. Air officers said two direct hits set fire to military warehouses. They declared no Chinese planes rose against them and they encountered only slight anti-aircraft fire.

Chinese reported Japanese air raiders also bombed Tuchang, on the west bank of Lake Poyang, causing about 20 casualities, and the cities of Lishui, Shaoshing and Lanki in Chekiang province.

Japanese land, air and sea forces combined in a counter offensive to drive Chinese guerrillas from Haiyen, between Hangchow and Shanghai. Chinese declared they were holding their newly won lines against 4,000 Japanese troops in the area.

2 REBEL PLANES BOMB, SET AFIRE BRITISH VESSEL

PALAMOS, Spain, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Two rebel planes fired the 2,110 ton British steamer Lake Lugano in a fierce air attack today and hours later the waters lapped at the fiercely burning hulk. After bombing the ship the attackers wheeled and swooped low to machine gun the decks. None of the crew of 27 was injured. Palamos is a Mediterranean port fifty miles northeast of Barcelona.

Brushes 3d 'L' Rail; Electric Shock Is Fatal

Herbert Bergan's metal paint scraper brushed against the third rail yesterday as he was preparing to paint the elevated railway structure near the Canal street station. Although the scraper had a wooden handle and the current could not have touched him, he was apparently so startled that he touched the rail with his body. The charge was fatal, although a rescue squad tried for almost an hour to revive him. Bergan was 34 years old. He lived at 1630 Humboldt boulevard.

6 DIE AS BRITISH PLANES CRASH IN MOCK AIR WAR

London "Raided"; 900 Ships in Battle.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Bad weather forced a halt to Britain's mock aerial warfare today after it had caused six real casualties.

A royal air force bomber, participating in air defense exercises with 900 fighting planes, crashed and caught fire, killing its five occupants, during the night at Great Barton village, near Bury St. Edmunds, Suffolk.

A sixth flyer was killed in another accident. Three other planes crashed in other localities but the occupants parachuted to safety.

Fog Hampers Exercises.

Fog and rain hampered the exercises in many areas and all bombers were grounded before the general cessation early this afternoon. Fighting planes had remained aloft despite the adverse weather to test searchlight units.

An air ministry communique said invading "Eastland" bombers, flying in small attack formations, had made London their chief objective and had inflicted serious theoretical damage to the air ministry and the Knightsbridge district of the capital.

Defensive "Westland" fighters, however, were said to have intercepted the "attacking" squadrons successfully at many points.

Begin Surprise Attack.

"In real war," the communique said, "few of the 'raiders' would have escaped without loss."

The attack was started yesterday by surprise in bright midafternoon sun and lasted until early today under cover of night. The maneuvers, extended into today because of several delays caused by bad weather, were scheduled to conclude tonight.

Offers Haven to Italians, Germans Hurt in Spain

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 7.—With the coöperation of the soviet Russian government, soviet trade unions have offered a permanent refuge for some of the 600 German and Italian wounded, now exiles in France, who fought with the international brigade of the Spanish loyalist army, it has been learned here. About twenty-five of these wounded have already gone to the soviet union while others are preparing to go. The men cannot return to their own countries.

Ship Hits and Sinks Boat; 3 of Crew of 10 Rescued

DUBLIN, Ireland, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Irish mail steamer Cambria arrived today at Kingstown with three survivors of the British trawler Alcazar which sank after a collision with the Cambria in thick fog midway between the Irish and Welsh coasts. Seven other members of the Alcazar's crew were feared lost.

LOYALISTS RALLY TO SAVE WING OF CATALAN FRONT

Franco Recaptures Much of Lost Territory.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier], Aug. 7.—(AP)—Spanish government forces, beaten back almost to the banks of the Ebro river, rallied today in an attempt to save the northern wing of their Catalan front.

Strong counter attacks were launched from the south to retrieve vital ground lost yesterday when rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco's forces shattered government defenses before Caspe in one of the most powerful assaults of the war.

Rebel military headquarters at Saragossa announced the "complete liquidation" of government forces in the Mequinenza-Fayon sector in the Ebro river valley northeast of Gandesa. Rebel communiques said six enemy brigades [12,000 to 15,000 men], including internationals, were "destroyed" by Franco's counteroffensive. Franco's troops captured the peak of Roda, last important position in the sector southwest of the Ebro river.

Government Losses 6,000.

Government advices, however, said one column was counter attacking from Fayon with artillery support in an attempt to recapture the territory the rebels took last night.

A force of several thousand government troops, they said, still were in the Rincones mountains fighting desperately to hold precarious positions with their backs to the river.

Rebels estimated government losses at between 6,000 and 8,000 men, equally divided between battle casualties and prisoners including fifty internationals, captured by Franco's troops.

Militiamen who escaped the rebel offensive, Franco's commanders reported, were trapped in pine forests and olive groves with escape cut off. Behind them was the Ebro and converging from the other three sides, they said, were rebel forces which had gained key heights.

Entire Air Force Active.

The entire strength of the rebel air force in the Ebro valley—about 200 fighting and bombing planes—roared in waves over government lines throughout yesterday's attack.

They continued today to dump explosives and rain machine gun bullets on the government's imperiled mountain line.

The territory captured by the rebels includes the greater part of a semicircle formed by the Matarrana river, a tributary of the Ebro, and the curving Ebro itself.

It is on the right wing of the advance, which was launched on July 25, in which the government's battle flags were carried so far to the west in Catalonia that they threatened Franco's vital rear guard town, Caspe, supply center for his entire Ebro battle line.

Driven Back to River

(Story in adjoining column.)

Spanish rebels reported yesterday their counter offensive had shattered loyalist forces in the Mequinenza-Fayon sector (see arrow). Six loyalist brigades were said to have been routed. Loyalists attempted to rally for a stand at the Ebro river.

GERMAN LINER'S CABINS RUINED BY FIRE; 1 KILLED

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Most of the de luxe cabins of the German cruise liner Reliance were ruined today by a fire that burned out the vessel amidships and killed one crew member.

No passengers or baggage had been taken aboard for a Scandinavian cruise. The Reliance was to have started tomorrow and only about one-third of the crew had embarked.

Hamburg fire apparatus fought the fire at the Reliance's berth for four hours before quenching it. The cause of the blaze was not learned. It broke out in a room on a deck used to store paper articles for shipboard festivities.

STORM PREVENTS JAP SHIPS FROM HUNTING CLIPPER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Japanese foreign office today advised the state department that a storm was preventing Japanese surface craft from searching the Douglas reef area for the missing Hawaii Clipper. The reef is about 800 miles south of Japan. The foreign office said that vessels had sailed, but were prevented from beginning the search by the approach of a typhoon. A misunderstanding, arising out of a request to the Japanese government to search the Douglas reef area, gave rise last night to reports from Tokio that the Clipper had been found.

Mexican Troops Kill Four Members of Sugar Union

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—Troops today fired on members of the sugar workers' union and farm workers after these two groups had halted their quarrel to shoot at soldiers in Aguabuena in the state of San Luis Potosi. Four members of the sugar union were killed.

THE CITY'S STEPCHILD.

A series of trafic counts made in the loop show some striking facts and trends. Over the last decade there has been a substantial increase in the number of vehicles entering the downtown business area, and all of this increase is represented by private automobiles and taxicabs. The trend is the more significant in view of the fact that the total number of persons coming downtown in this period has declined.

The automobile is the new and the most convenient method of transportation. The trafic counts reflect the familiar fact that the west side is least able to take advantage of it. From the north 96,000 autos and cabs entered the loop on the day the count was taken. The corresponding figure for the west side was 65,000. The south side, with 66,000, made a better showing.

Trafic is avoiding the west side. That is hurting the business of west side merchants and undermining the value of west side real estate. The only way to right the balance is to construct an elevated highway and eventually a series of them which will provide rapid, safe, and comfortable transportation westward from the loop. The outer drives serve that purpose for the favored north and south sides. When the west side has a road which is comparably free of cross trafic its desirability for business and residential purposes will be greatly enhanced.

THE SIBERIAN DOG FIGHT.

In American humor of fifty years ago there was a story [by Mark Twain?] of two dogs, one on the outside of a tall picket fence and the other within. They fell into a violent rage on seeing each other. They bristled and snarled and made furious attacks, with the fence between them. They dashed along the palings, biting the wood in their efforts to get at each other.

People gathered to see this exhibition of fury. Then one observer noted that fifty feet or so from where the dogs were struggling at each other there was an opening, big enough to allow them to grapple. The spectators, seeing that there was this possibility that the furious animals, dashing about, might come to the opening, almost held their breath in the suspense of waiting to see what happened. The dogs neared the opening and the suspense grew. Apparently the dog fight of all ages was just on the point of starting.

The warriors reached the opening. They took one startled look at each other in amazement which revealed itself in drooping tail and relaxing muscles. Then the inside dog departed for back of the barn and the outside dog took around the nearest corner. Somehow or other the events at Changkufeng, on the Manchukuan-Siberian border, recall this story of the dog fight.

SENATOR BERRY LOSES ALL HIS MARBLES.

About the only issue in the New Deal Democratic primaries in Tennessee was whether the fighting comrades could get through it without landing in jail and whether the candidates who were out for the United States senate and house of representatives could take their seats after election, in the face of scandal, corruption, vote buying, and ballot box stuffing.

The highlights which were promised when Gov. Browning, quick trigger executive, like so many other New Deal governors, called for his troops, flickered out when he decided to obey an injunction issued by the federal courts restraining him from sending the soldiers into Memphis to take care of the polling places. The governor reconsidered and the guard went to Mississippi for peaceable maneuvers. Civil war was averted and there was no bloodshed.

Both Gov. Browning and Senator Berry, whom he was supporting and whom he had appointed senator at Mr. Roosevelt's request, were defeated by Mr. Crump's candidates, Prentice Cooper for governor and Tom Stewart for the senate. Mr. Crump is the boss of Memphis and Shelby county, where Gov. Browning intended to send his troops.

Senator Berry, having played marbles with the New Deal in Washington, thought that he could play marbles with the Tennessee Valley Authority, and that seems to have been regarded as a mistake in Washington. Berry became one of the reasons for Dr. Arthur Morgan's charges against the other two directors, and Mr. Roosevelt withdrew his countenance from the senator, who was a good fellow until he made a mistake and misguided the White House into firing Dr. Morgan. Nothing in the campaign in Tennessee would indicate that there was a New Deal rush of righteousness to the surface—quite the contrary—but both Senator Berry and his supporter, Gov. Browning, paid for having made a bad guess.

THE TVA AND THE UNIVERSITIES.

The congressional investigation of TVA has now brought out the fact that seven state universities have received subsidies approximating $1,700,000 from this agency. The money is supposed to have been spent for scientific demonstrations of one sort or another.

We seem to recall that a number of years ago the so-called power trust was bitterly attacked for subsidizing a number of demonstrations in various schools and universities. This was regarded as reprehensible when done by private citizens with their own money, but apparently is above reproach when done by a government supported power company with the taxpayers' money. The money the power companies contributed was called a bribe. The money the TVA contributes is called an evidence of a coöperative spirit. The propagandist activities of the power companies were called subversive. The propagandist activities of the TVA are called wise and farsighted.

Every time the investigators open up a new aspect of TVA something queer is discovered. Enormous sums have been spent in ways and for objects which seem far from the original purpose of the so-called experiment. The more that is revealed the more puzzled the taxpayers become.

THE BANKING AMENDMENT.

At the November election the voters of Illinois will pass judgment on a proposed amendment of the banking section of the state constitution.

The changes should be approved.

In the formative years of the state the people of Illinois had suffered much from wildcat banking. As in all pioneer communities, there was a shortage of capital. Roads, canals, and railroads were needed. Factories, houses, and cities were projected. Capital was needed for all these purposes and many others, but the savings of the people of Illinois were still negligible. Outside capital was available to only a limited extent. There was a tremendous demand for credit which led to the employment of many unsound schemes of credit creation.

The inevitable crash came, or, more accurately, the inevitable series of crashes following speculative booms, and the memory of them was fresh in the minds of the men who drafted the constitution of 1871. The constitution makers were determined to prevent a repetition of the abuses from which the state had suffered. Accordingly, they incorporated in the constitution a good many provisions which might more properly have been left to statutory law, and to tie their package still tighter they provided that any changes in the banking laws must be approved by the voters in a state-wide referendum.

The constitution did succeed in preventing the repetition of some mistakes, but it has made the problem of meeting changed conditions needlessly difficult. The failure of hundreds of state banks in Illinois in the '20s and '30s suggests that our banking code lacks a good deal of perfection. Under a less rigid scheme some of those bankruptcies, if not all of them, might have been avoided.

One of the vexing provisions imposed by the existing constitution is the double liability clause. That was intended to safeguard depositors in the event of a bank failure. The stockholders were made liable not only for the capital they had subscribed but also for an equal amount assessable against them if the bank failed. Recent experience has shown that this provision was not of great value. The economic cataclysm which reduced many of the smaller banks to insolvency also wiped out the accumulations of the stockholders. Practically speaking, the collections under the double liability provision have been of little advantage to depositors.

Indeed, there is reason to think that the depositors in the aggregate have suffered because of this provision. Some banks might have been rescued by subscriptions of new capital, but new money was not forthcoming because of the risk imposed by the constitution, a risk which has been heightened by court decisions which considerably expand the stockholders' responsibility.

In any event, the compulsory insurance of deposits up to $5,000 in all banks has removed most of the justification for double liability. The stockholders, year by year, pay the insurance premium on their deposits and their liability should be reduced accordingly. Stockholders in banks organized under federal charter are no longer doubly liable and if the state banks are to survive as state banks they must be placed on a parity with their federal competitors.

It is unnecessary here to discuss the amendment in all its detail, but one other provision deserves consideration. The provision in the constitution that changes in banking statutes must be approved in a state-wide referendum has proved both expensive and clumsy. The idea that such changes in the laws should be carefully considered was sound, but the subject is difficult and technical and relatively few of the voters understand it. The amendment provides that alterations in the banking laws must be approved by at least two-thirds of the members of each house in the legislature. That is a better way of safeguarding depositors against ill-considered laws.

BY DAMN THEY ALL ARE.

Don José Tormos Diego, mayor of Ponce, Porto Rico, now in Washington, where he had an operation for appendicitis but came out vigorous enough to denounce the revolutionaries who took a pot shot at Gov. Winship in Ponce during his absence—"I got enough tripes yet. I blow their nose, by damn, I am"—is the most interesting visitor to our shores and, probably because of an imperfect book learning in the English language, the most illuminating commentator on what is called the American scene.

It sometimes happens that a visitor's struggles with the American language lend a piquancy to his remarks and ripen their philosophical content. Of a Roquefort salad dressing that was set before him Mayor Diego said to his hostess: "I am loving you, but these cheese she's making too much stink."

Senator Sheppard of the badly shocked and startled congressional committee appointed to keep the New Deal primaries chaste, pure, and uncontaminated in the stream of treasury money which overflows the banks in nearly all the constituencies—Mr. Sheppard discovering that the corruption and scandals are so appalling that they contaminate the ballot box and "should be upon the conscience of the nation," is indebted to Don José. This is just what he has been trying to say himself of the New Deal campaigning: "I am loving you, but these cheese she's making too much stink."

JUST RUINED.

"Why won't you advertise?" asked the canvasser of a man in a small way of business.

"Because I'm against advertising," the man answered.

"But why?"

"It don't leave a man no time," was the reply. "I advertised once last year and the consequence was I was so busy I didn't have no time to go fishing the whole summer."—Exchange.

NO DANGER.

"You'll be very careful on my polished floor, won't you?"

"That'll be all right, ma'am," replied the plumber, "we 'as nails in our boots."—London News.

PANORAMA.

New morning is the clearest time
To ride through countryside—
The air, then, is as amethyst,
The brooks, tree-stitched, divide
Calm fields into a quilt, hand-blocked
By fences, making cover
For all the dozing farms—the sun
Comes softly, glancing over
Brown buns of hay, set carefully
In crooked rows—the sheep
Curl tight—and horses, nose to flank,
Stamp fitfully in sleep.
No sound is there except the low
Sweet talk of waking swallows;
No movement but slow puffs of fog
Afloat in purple hollows.

A story told at the American Bar association at Cleveland was that by a South Carolina judge about a lawyer who had never lost a personal injury case against a railroad. The perfectly trained and coached witnesses he produced were responsible for his success. When a man and woman who, overlooking the signals and the fact that the gates were down, were killed by an oncoming train, the estate retained the lawyer in a suit against the railroad. The first witness was a 7 year old boy.

"I want you to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth," the lawyer admonished his small witness. Then, rearing back impressively, "What is your name?"

"The gates were up and the whistle wasn't blowing," answered the boy.

Lost Spanish Heritage.

I write in bitterness, for I have been cheated. My heritage of longing has been destroyed by fat little men who sell guns, by stodgy looking fellows whose thirst for power is ravaging the earth of its laughter. . . . My dreams of dancing and driving through a warm, singing land are gone, vanished in the smoke of a giant cannon, whipped away by the chill winds of hate, silenced by the screams of women, driven off by the stench of bodies left uncovered on the face of the sickened earth. . . .

In all the world there is no longer a land where castanets will beat out their intoxicating rhythms, where the myriad stars, violet in a purple sky, shall twinkle, twinkle, like sapphires falling into a goblet of wine. . . .

I have been told of a small forest near Toledo, where pomegranates once grew, scarlet under the dry sun. If a traveler stopped here, and plucked one, and tasted, and wished a wish for Spain, it would come true. The wood is gone now, but perhaps there grows one tree untouched, springing up upon the sunny side of a hill. . . . Surely I must go, and cross the seas, and wander through the deepening twilight in that magic grove. And if I find a pomegranate, then all the ones who stood there before me will cluster around, and pray to the unforgiving stars to grant my wish for Spain. . . .

Some day a man in a trench will stand up straight, uncertainly at first, and he will sing a long forgotten love song and all the men around will listen and start to sing. Then they must throw down their arms, they must, and build again my dream of magic, and a spray of violet stars, and the blue streams of Castile. . . .

Your Chicago and Mine.

A little tavern on West North avenue shows movies to the patrons as they drink beer at the checked cloth covered tables. The patrons are largely German, and the picture the other night was of the music festival at Bayreuth. In between the movie showings the three piece orchestra, accordion, violin, and traps, plays "I Want a Girl, Just the Girl, That Married Dear Old Dad" and songs of similar vintage. Not swing revivals of them, either.

Two doors away is a Hungarian and Italian theater that shows foreign language films, and across the street from the café is a Hungarian restaurant where, on Wednesday nights, the patrons dance spiritedly the wild czardas and schottisches the orchestra plays.

IS FAINTING DANGEROUS?

THE popular conception that a fainting "spell" is due to a weak heart may be disregarded in most instances. A robust appearing six footer with a perfect cardiac equipment may "pass out" at the sight of blood or while being vaccinated. One may feel weak, ill, lose all color, and then become unconscious after standing for a long time in one position. The same effects are produced by crowded, poorly ventilated rooms. Modistes are quite accustomed to such occurrences during a "fitting." Any of us, no matter how "strong" his stomach, may faint at some unusual, disgusting, or dreadful sight or announcement.

Again, one may lose consciousness from hunger or fatigue. Tales are told of travelers who have kept up courage and intense muscular exertion for hours, even days, only to fall prostrate when rescue is at hand. It is not difficult to understand incidents of this nature. As long as the nervous system is keyed to great heights of mental concentration and the vessels are well filled through active circulation, all goes well. But when a sense of relief overwhelms the mind every vital force may quit, so to speak, with the passing of suspense and collapse may ensue.

With many, nervous shock will produce an anemia of the brain. While the patient may drop suddenly there are usually such warnings as dizziness or everything "going black" which come far enough ahead to permit one to seek fresh air or assume a recumbent posture. Heart weakness need not be feared, although the contractions may be temporarily less powerful due to the decreased quantity of blood entering that organ. In addition, less blood finds its way to the brain, which accounts wholly for the syncope.

Some individuals have the fainting habit, but this may be explained on the basis of hysteria. Furthermore, it is no longer fashionable to collapse on the slightest provocation. Nor do we see, as a part of milady's paraphernalia, that attractive gadget common a generation or two ago—the vinaigrette filled with ammonium carbonate and lavender water, which was raised to the nostrils every few minutes. The reason is that more sensible clothing [hence more room to breathe] has greatly lessened the tendency to swooning.

The principal heart condition which should be thought of is paroxysmal tachycardia [very rapid beating], attacks of which may last for a few seconds or several hours. As a rule this is a nervous manifestation temporary in character. Such phenomena appear at times in children. With a normal pulse of 80 the rate may jump suddenly to 200 or more strokes a minute. The face may become pale, the lips slightly cyanotic, and unconsciousness supervene. What has happened? Through loss of force arterial pressure falls sufficiently so that too little nourishment is supplied to the brain.

Of course, in any unexpected collapse, epilepsy [petit mal] should be considered, particularly if the episode is repeated at intervals. But many a mother may be apprehensive lest her child be developing this "falling sickness" when the cause is merely a nervous impulse which upsets the regularity of the pumping organ. Diagnosis is always difficult, because the physician rarely is present at the time and must base his opinion on the description given by the mother or others about the house.

Fainting, unless it happens frequently, is relatively insignificant, although we should not allow it to go unexplained. Recurring experiences may carry a more serious portent, especially if they come "out of a clear sky" with no inciting factors such as weakness or nervous shock.

A simple device to ward off one of these seizures is to bend the trunk of the body forward on the thighs. This has the effect of squeezing the abdominal area, thus forcing more blood to the heart and thence to the brain.

PERSONAL PROBLEMS.

W. W. writes: For years I have found it impossible to discuss personal problems with those I care for most dearly, although I can discuss them with others in whom I have no personal interest. Does medical science recognize such a state of mind?

REPLY.

The discussion of such problems is best left to an "outsider" who has no bias and who can view the questions objectively. Clergymen and physicians make the best counselors, except in their own families.

GRANULATED EYELIDS.

J. C. L. writes:

1. What is the cause of granulated eyelids?

2. What can be done to clear up this affliction?

REPLY.

1. Errors of refraction and a low scale of vitality, including anemia, are prominent causes.

2. Wearing correct eyeglasses, living a more hygienic life, and local use of boric acid solution or yellow oxide of mercury ointment are beneficial.

SCREENS.

Chicago, July 26.—[Legal Friend of People.]—I live in a duplex apartment. The building is like two "U's" with one reversed. In the center of the larger U is a fountain. The smaller part has grass and evergreens. All front doors on the larger part of the U and those front doors facing the street do not have screens and the landlord has just advised me by letter they do not intend to furnish front door screens. Considerable shrubbery faces these openings. Will you advise if there is anything in the laws of Chicago requiring a landlord to furnish screens to doors which open on plots such as ours? Rents range from $60 to $85 per month. L. S.

Section 2174 of the city code provides that "it shall be the duty of every . . . person owning or controling . . . any place where persons are housed . . . and where foods are kept . . . to maintain on all openings . . . from April 15 to Nov. 15 . . . screens."

While this wording is equally applicable to landlord and tenant, we are informed that if the owner fails to provide screens a complaint to the department of health will insure action to that end.

POLITICIANS AND TAXES.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—The plank, "Cut Taxes in Half," appears at the bottom of your platform, although it is by far the most important.

The reason our taxes are not cut in half is that our incumbent statesmen, called politicians in Texas, are the beneficiaries of high taxes. The only persons who are concerned with the problems of reducing taxes are the persons who must pay the bill. Where else could the money come from?

The only difference between the services of the statesman and the industrialist is that the customer must pay for one whether he likes it or not, and in the other he can refuse to buy. The industrialist must always improve his product to meet competition. Is this necessary in the services of the government?

The war between the two groups will never end. So don't haul down your flag. E. A. T.

TALKERS AT THE CONCERTS.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—At the concert of the symphony orchestra in Grant park Monday evening the attendance was so great that many of us had to be content with standing positions back of the last row of benches. Immediately back of us for a considerable part of the evening were groups of apparently intelligent persons who seemed to be paying no attention to the music, but instead they appeared to be trying to edify one another [and us poor simps, maybe] with their monologs on various matters. They seemed to know the "people who" and the answer to every question. A southwest wind prevented us from hearing the more delicate portions of the music and it was only at the fortissimo passages that we were able to forget about the monologists.

Maybe it is not too late to erect a few illuminated signs at the outlying seats addressed to the conversationists, asking them to retire at least a hundred feet [or yards] from the nearest part of the audience.

Newsboys and "buttered all over" vendors can become a nuisance at times and so can the open mouth method of masticating popcorn, but gabbers should receive special attention. They never know when to stop. And they are at all of the concerts.

FRANK V. O'CONNOR.

POLITICIANS AND THEIR TIME.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—I note that a mere citizen dares to ask openly where certain politicians spend their time, inasmuch as it does not seem to be spent at their offices. Mere citizen must have the nerve of a Corrigan. Doesn't he know it isn't cricket to question politicians? I, too, have wondered what return some state politicians give for the munificent bounties paid them by taxpayers. For instance, what does an inspector of private agencies do with his time? I know he spends a great deal of it thinking up ways to harass and intimidate legitimate agencies who dare to question his tyrannical demands, but where was he when unscrupulous agency operators were taking money from applicants they could never place, and where was he when such people applied for licenses?

WEIGHT LIFTING HIS PANACEA.

Glen Ellyn, Ill., Aug. 3.—Dr. Cutter did a great injustice to weight lifting in the remarks he made in his column today. It is evident that he is not acquainted with any weight lifters; he probably doesn't know what a barbell looks like.

In his first paragraph the doctor intimated that there was a danger of developing hernia by weight lifting. It's not the weight lifter [whose abdominal muscles are strong and hard] that suffers from rupture, it's the individual whose stomach muscles are weak and soft that ruptures himself.

To the question: "Does a strenuous routine of weight lifting promote good health," he answers, "Never!" And yet there are thousands of young men and women who didn't know what good health meant until they started exercising with weights. If everybody would stimulate circulation, respiration, and other body processes as only a barbell workout can stimulate them, there would be no use for pills, operations, or columns like Dr. Cutter's.

To misguided W. B., who wrote for advice, any barbell man can tell you that the quickest way to super-strength and health is by following a systematic routine of weight lifting. M. B.

SEES TREND TO SOCIALIZATION.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Aug. 2.—I read your editorial entitled "Prosecuting the Doctors." I want you to know how much such an editorial is appreciated. There has been a rapidly growing tendency on the part of the laity, for all practical purposes, to hold the physician in contempt if he attempts to collect a just fee for his services. The old respect toward the family physician is rapidly disappearing, and is certainly being encouraged by those in power, who are striving toward socialization.

MORE ABOUT FLORAL PIECES.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—I see a reader says people are being gypped in buying floral designs when old frames are used. As a fact, these old designs are either rewrapped or repainted and are as good as new. The florist, when he is able to purchase these used designs, is able to give the public a better and bigger floral piece. In using a new design it costs the florist from 40 cents to $2 for easels and designs. Who has to pay for these new designs in the end and get fewer flowers in them? The public.

FLORIST.

FINDS CIRCULARS A NUISANCE.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Whenever my wife is away for a day or so and I come home, say about six in the evening, the following is a regular program:

When I reach the front door the first thing is to pick out of the door handle two or three circulars, reach under the screen or storm door for a few more, pick out one or two from the hinged side of the door, then with my hands full of circulars get my key and open the door.

The following days are the same. It is a nice thing for the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children, as all newspapers and circulars such as described above are saved by us for the pickup for this home.

Now my suggestion is for an ordinance by the city council compelling all of the above mentioned matter to be delivered at the rear door. In this way no one with evil intentions would get a clew as to whether the house was empty and ready to be entered for plunder.

I have seen piles of this matter literally covering the porch of one of the houses on our street where the folks were gone on a short vacation.

FOR A CLEANER CITY.

OVER OR UNDER PASSES NEEDED.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—Regarding the accident four miles east of Gary on No. 6 highway, reported in yesterday's papers, I think I was the only direct eyewitness, since I was waiting on the other side of the railroad for the train to pass. If I may possess information of value to survivors or relatives, I should be glad to state facts.

How long will it be before the railroads construct overpasses at main highway crossings? Within the last two weeks not less than four similar accidents have taken place where streamline or ultra-fast trains have suffered much loss by striking autos or trucks. In each case the cost of an overpass would be well started for the amount of the loss in each instance. J. M. M.

QUOTES CÆSAR ON TATTOOING.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—A writer, "Tattooed Gyppo," tells of the tattooing of Kaiser Wilhelm and the late King George of England. Tattooing is strictly an English custom. A majority of the British sailors are tattooed.

After Julius Cæsar visited Britain the following were his observations:

"The men are barbarians; they tattoo their bodies and dress in the skins of wild beasts." W. W. S.

DEADLINE TODAY FOR ENTRIES IN MUSIC FESTIVAL

Signed Blanks Must Reach Office by 6 P. M.

All signed entry blanks of groups and individuals taking part in the Chicagoland Music Festival contests must be in the office of the headquarters, room 1418, Tribune Tower, by 6 p. m. today. A record number of participants, coming to the festival from twenty-five states and from Canada, will be entered in the competition.

Among the choruses returning to the festival is the Palason Male choir of southwestern Michigan. Forest Krake of St. Joseph is conductor and the group is sponsored by the Twin City Y. M. C. A., the Watervliet Paper, the Kawnee, and the Industrial Rubber Goods companies.

P. and O. Band Entered.

Also entered again is the famous P. and O. band of Canton, Ill., directed by Frederick D. Walker. Sponsored by the Canton Daily Ledger, it has been practicing for the contest for four months.

Accompanying the band will be J. Earle Mavity, general manager of the newspaper, and George F. Cogshall, manager of the band and secretary of Canton's chamber of commerce.

A newcomer is the Tabor Senior Vested choir of the Tabor Evangelical-Reformed church, of Milwaukee. Robert McKee is the director.

Festival Luncheon Planned.

Hundreds of contestants will arrive in Chicago Friday morning, Aug. 19, in time to attend the second festival luncheon which will be held that noon in the grand ballroom of the Stevens hotel. All 2,000 places to this social affair are expected to be sold out by the end of this week. Plates are $1.50 each.

The second of a series of Cook county vocal contests will be held tomorrow and Wednesday nights in the Chicago Women's club theater, beginning at 7 o'clock. Singers from the west and northwest sections will be heard, the contraltos, tenors and baritones tomorrow night, and sopranos, mezzo-sopranos and basses on Wednesday. Admission tickets to these contests will cost 25 cents each, obtainable at the door.

EAST MOLINE MUSIC FESTIVAL ATTRACTS AUDIENCE OF 5,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

East Moline, Ill., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—A crowd of 5,000 heard the first Mississippi Valley Music Festival in Soule stadium here tonight. The entertainment was a forerunner of the Chicagoland festival, which is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Lanny Ross.

Many of the participants tonight, who won in earlier individual and group contests, will represent this area in the finals in Chicago Aug. 20 and will take part as winners or in massed numbers at the concert before 100,000 persons in Soldiers' field.

Lanny Ross, radio and movie tenor, was the star of the evening's program and was called back many times for encores.

MRS. SHERWOOD, BUSINESS GIRLS' FRIEND, IS DEAD

Succumbs at Colorado Camp She Founded.

News of the death of Mrs. John B. Sherwood, founder of the organization which made Colorado vacations possible for thousands of Chicago business girls, was received here yesterday.

She died Saturday in Blue Bird cottage, Boulder, Colo., at the age of 92.

Active in Clubs and Art.

Mrs. Sherwood came to Chicago as a young woman. At one time she was chairman of the art department of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. She helped organize the Noonday Rest club in the loop for Chicago business women.

Through her efforts, Blue Bird cottage was opened in 1911, by the Holiday House association, which she headed until her death. In 1920 a second camp was opened.

More than 5,000 young Chicago women have enjoyed inexpensive vacations at the two Colorado camps. Mrs. Sherwood nad made her home at Boulder for many years.

Helped Organize Woman's Club.

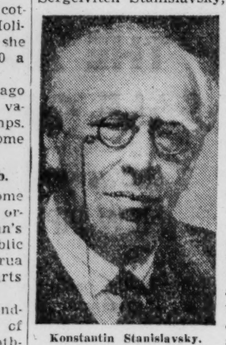
It was in her old Chicago home that a small group planned the organization of the Chicago Woman's club. She was a leader in the Public School Art society and the Altrua library class for study of fine arts while she lived here.

Mrs. Sherwood leaves a granddaughter, Mrs. Arthur O'Keefe of Danville, and a sister and two brothers: Mrs. Julian McPherson of San Leandro, Cal.; Dr. L. L. Wirt of Claremont, Cal., and Arthur Wirt of Santa Cruz, Cal. Funeral services will be in Blue Bird cottage today.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: One Wise Man

STANISLAVSKY, NOTED RUSSIAN DRAMATIST AND ACTOR, DIES AT 75

MOSCOW, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Konstantin Sergeivitch Stanislavsky, founder of the Moscow Art theater and one of the greatest figures of the modern dramatic world, died today of heart disease. He was 75 years old. The dramatist had been ill since June 15 when he collapsed during preparations for staging "Cartouche," a work of the 17th century French playwright, Moliere.



Konstantin Stanislavsky.

Stanislavsky formerly was a rich manufacturer whose love of the theater led him from amateur theatricals to the position of a world renowned pioneer of the modern theater. Actor, producer, and teacher of actors, he struggled to introduce realism, truth, and simplicity into acting.

VICTIM OF NAVY PIER BOAT BLAST DIES IN HOSPITAL

Frank Mattern, 5961 North Kilpatrick avenue, one of three men burned Saturday evening in a gasoline explosion aboard a cabin cruiser at Navy pier, died yesterday in Passavant hospital. Mattern, who was 37 years old, was head of the Mattern company, X-ray machine manufacturers.

The others injured are Mattern's brother, Julius, 35, of 4025 Irving Park road, and Jack Hedlin, 24, of 1441 Olive street. Both are in serious condition in the hospital. The three men were trying to start the cruiser's motor when the explosion occurred, shortly after gasoline nad been pumped into the tanks.

Head of Cotton Council in City for Treatment

Oscar Johnston, wealthy plantation owner of Scott, Miss., is in Michael Reese hospital for observation and treatment of a minor eye ailment, it was learned yesterday. He will leave in a few days, according to Dr. Harry Gradle, his physician. Johnston, who is 58 years old, is former manager of the Agricultural Adjustment administration cotton pool. He recently was named to head the national cotton council, formed by a thousand leaders of the cotton industry. Mrs. Johnston is in Chicago with him.

News of The Tribune Experimental Farm By Frank Ridgway

Milkweeds Thrive.

Aug. 7, 1938.

MILKWEEDS have thrived on the Tribune farms this year. Heavy rains have been unusually favorable for the growth of these crop pests. The milkweeds also have been unusually thick in small grainfields in various other parts of Illinois.

Three different kinds of milkweeds—common, swamp, and whorled—have been found on the Du Page county farm this summer. They have not been troublesome on the farm before.

The common milkweeds have caused trouble in small grain fields. Heavy losses to crops are often caused where the weeds come in dense patches. The swamp variety comes up in low places and usually causes little trouble.

Poisonous to Stock.

Whorled milkweeds are poisonous to live stock and sometimes cause losses among horses, cattle, and sheep. Small patches of this weed have been found on a slope in an open spot in the wooded pasture near the big pond on the farm. The infested area seems to be a favorite place for undesirable weeds. European bindweed has been found in the same pasture.

Whorled milkweeds have slender stalks. The leaves are narrow and are from 2 to 3 inches long. They develop in clusters or whorls of several needlelike leaves around the stalk. The flowers are of greenish white. The botanist's name for this weed is Asclepias verticillata.

Common milkweeds have a heavier stalk than the whorled variety. The leaves are comparatively broad, oblong in shape, and placed on opposite sides of the stalk. The flowers are of a rose purple. The botanical name is Asclepias syriaca. The swamp variety is known botanically as Asclepias incarnata. It has a larger, deeper-hued blossom than the common milkweed.

Milkweeds are deeply rooted perennial plants, producing seeds in pods with a flosslike material inside the pods. The pods of the common milkweed are larger than those of the whorled or swamp milkweed.

Hunger Results in Death.

Veterinarians say that sheep and cattle are often driven by excessive hunger to eat milkweeds. Animals also eat dry plants which contain poison. The green plants lose the bitter taste when dried. Both green and dried plants may cause the death of animals.

Farmers find that the dry whorled milkweeds found in hay or straw may poison horses. They protect the animals by separating the dry plants at the time of feeding either hay or straw. Common and swamp milkweeds are not considered dangerous to live stock.

Except where there are only small bunches of milkweeds in a meadow or in a small grain field it is not practical to pull the weeds by hand.

Usually farmers are able to keep milkweeds under control in cultivated fields such as corn and soy beans planted in rows. They practice shallow plowing and then disc and harrow the ground to expose the broken roots to the sun. Men at the farm have been successful in destroying the weeds by cultivating corn with the duckfoot type of shovel which shaves off the roots immediately below the surface of the soil.

Die Out in Pastures.

Farmers find that milkweeds cause little trouble in pastures. They seem to lose their vitality in a pasture and soon die. They are not often troublesome in pastures after the second year. But where a field is continuously used for the growing of a single crop the weeds are difficult to keep under control.

All of the milkweeds at the farm are being kept under control by cultivating corn and similar crops, mowing meadows and pastures and cutting small grain with a combine harvester.

Ravinia Season Closes; Exceeds '37 Attendance

BY CECIL SMITH.

The 1938 Ravinia festival is over. Eugene Ormandy, magnetic conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, directed the last of the summer's twenty-four symphonic concerts at the north shore pavilion yesterday afternoon.

After the close of the last piece on the printed program Mr. Ormandy interrupted an enormous ovation to give a graceful little speech of appreciation of the orchestra, the festival association, and the audience. Then, as an encore, he conducted a sparkling performance of Johann Straus' waltz, "On the Beautiful Blue Danube."

Despite an unusual number of rainy evenings, the total attendance at Ravinia for the summer outstripped last summer's record. The average night by night attendance was larger than ever before, and, of course, Benny Goodman and his swing band last Wednesday accounted for 6,200 extra admissions.

Mr. Ormandy's closing program included Bach's Prelude and Fugue in B minor, transcribed by Lucien Cailliet, clarinetist in the Philadelphia orchestra, and played here for the first time; the Dvorak "New World" symphony; the interlude and dance from the second act of De Falla's Opera "La Vida Breve"; Mr. Ormandy's own version of the Paganini "Moto Perpetuo," and Rimsky Korsakoff's imperishably brilliant "Spanish Caprice."

The "New World" symphony was played with a wide range of mood and inflection, now attenuated and delicate, and again forcefully and percussively accented.

While the conductor's reading departed from many of the accustomed norms of tempo and dynamics, it served to revitalize a work that has suffered from too casual treatment. Mr. Cailliet's Bach transcription is in the sonorous tradition of Leopold Stokowski, eschewing sensationalism and discovering in the orchestra a bold, round sonority comparable to that of the organ.

Mr. Ormandy's arrangement of the "Moto Perpetuo" gives the scintillant violin part to the first violins alone, rather than to both firsts and seconds, as in Frederick Stock's version. While the Philadelphia conductor's orchestration is thinner and cleaner than Mr. Stock's, it does not profit from the witty inspiration of employing the first theme of Beethoven's "Eroica" symphony as a flippant counter melody.

The orchestra played magnificently from start to finish, as it had at the Saturday night concert. The Saturday night symphony was the second by Sibelius. Mr. Ormandy found much to dramatize in this popular score and much to turn to striking and sometimes startling orchestral effect. It was not one of his best performances musically, however, and the climactic finale lost some of the force of climax, through unsteady tempos and a feeling of undue haste toward the end.

The first suite from Ravel's Ballet, "Daphnis and Chloe," received its initial Chicago hearing on the same program. Some of its material recurs in the second suite and when it does it is used more effectively. The music won only a mild response from the audience, which had earlier applauded a galvanic, if terrifically loud, reading of the Venusberg music from Wagner's "Tannhäuser."

And so the tale of Ravinia comes to a halt for forty-six weeks, to be picked up again next July and August.

Piano Prodigy of Decade Ago Heard in Park

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Rosa Linda who appeared as piano soloist in Grant park last night with Rico Marcelli's orchestra is the same Rosa Linda who, ten seasons ago, as a child of 12, played with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Among the honors which she has gathered in the meantime was the privilege of presenting the Strawinsky concerto with the Budapest orchestra under the baton of the composer himself.

Dark, pretty, and competent looking, Miss Linda offered last evening the Liszt A major concerto. The lyrical episodes of the work she delivered in a flexible and persuasive manner. Her fluency was quite equal to the demands of the concerto's ticklish passage work. Only on the score of sheer power—and the bombastic A major concerto requires a lot of sheer power—could Miss Linda's performance be adversely criticized.

In response to audience applause she offered the Chopin A flat waltz—the hard A flat waltz with the cross rhythms—and projected it with ease and style. The extremely generous, almost excessive, rubato of the performance gave the waltz an attractively temperamental sound.

The Tschaikowsky Sixth symphony, minus its delectable three legged waltz, began the evening's music. Mr. Marcelli directs always with snap and precision, but he had great difficulties with tone. The symphony's third movement became extremely scratchy and unbeautiful of texture.

Things picked up noticeably in the final movement, and the improvement held through Rossini's "Barber of Seville" overture. The youthful little melodies of the latter work went off with considerable rhythmic élan as well as tonal suavity.

Last evening's program at the band shell is related to tonight's through the fact that Rosa Linda is, or was, a pupil of Mrs. Moriz Rosenthal. And Mr. Moriz Rosenthal, one of the few remaining links with the age of Liszt, is to appear as piano soloist this evening with the Chicago Symphony orchestra.

Give Reception on Aug. 18 for Envoy and Wife

BY JUDITH CASS.

A DELIGHTFUL mid-August party will be a reception Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence Wilkinson of Evanston will give on Thursday, Aug. 18, for Ambassador and Madame Rosso. Mme. Rosso is the Wilkinsons' daughter and she and her husband, who is Italian ambassador to Russia, are arriving in Chicago Aug. 16 for a visit with the Wilkinsons.

Unfortunately, Ambassador Rosso is sailing from New York on Aug. 20 so his visit on the north shore will be brief, but his wife will not return to Russia until November. The Rossos now are enjoying a ranch vacation at the HF Bar in Buffalo, Wyo., after having been in Central City, Colo. for the last few days of the theater festival. Mme. Rosso, as Mrs. Frances Wilkinson Bunker, used to spend part of each summer in Central City, where she has owned a house for several years.

The Wilkinsons' reception will be given at their home, 1027 Greenwood boulevard, from 5 to 7 o'clock.

George Bunker is vacationing with his mother and her husband, but Miss Adele Bunker has been spending the summer in the east. She will join her family in Evanston by the 18th.

Describes Spot Where a Vacation Is a Vacation.

Summer vacations are popularly thought of as a time of rest from the strenuous activities of the winter months. However, most summer resorts arrange such a round of activities for the vacationer that he returns to his home exhausted from the gay life.

But Lake Mohonk, N. Y., is different. There everything is done to make the place restful and peaceful. There is no dancing, no drinking, and smoking is not allowed in the dining room of the hotel. If one leaves Mohonk on a Sunday one cannot reënter that day, but must wait until Monday. Swimming, golf, and tennis constitute the only acceptable activities.

Lake Mohonk is situated in Ulster county, N. Y., in the Shawangunk mountains, six miles from New Paltz. The lake is a small sheet of water surrounded by wild, rocky scenery. Mrs. Ernst C. Von Ammon who recently returned to Winnetka from a trip to Lake Mohonk is one of its ardent admirers.

Mrs. Von Ammon left this weekend for Northport Point, Mich., to visit at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Herron. Their daughter, Miss Mary Ellen Herron, will be married to Mr. and Mrs. Von Ammon's son, Carl, on Oct. 1 in Lansing, Mich. The wedding will take place in the evening and a reception will follow at the Olds hotel. Phillip Von Ammon will be best man for his brother, who will take his bride to New York to live in Kew Gardens.

Ride to Hounds in Summer on Nantucket Island.

Sailing, tennis, golf, and swimming are not the only sports on Nantucket Island, for four mornings a week the famed Nantucket Harriers ride to hounds in what is believed to be the only summer hunt meeting in the United States. This group of hunting and riding enthusiasts is unique in that it hunts the speedy Nantucket jackrabbits instead of the customary foxes. There being no foxes on the Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 7.—Ed Wynn and his attorneys secreted themselves on his yacht over the week-end to arrange the Frieda Mierse settlement. M.-G.-M., trying to sign him for a picture, was so advised by New York. . . . When the Victor Watsons [she's George Brent's sister] get the final papers she'll become Mrs. Jaffee. . . . Note to Atlanta, Ga., scribes: Check your wedding records there and see if Mary Kirk Brown hasn't remarried within the last two weeks! . . . Steve Fuld of CBS saw Kitty Carlisle off at the boat and sends her daily radiograms. . . . Darryl Zanuck, arriving at 8 a. m., played a dirty trick on the associate producers. They had to get up and greet him, on THEIR time.

Warner Oland, who died just about the time his former leading lady, Pearl White, was being buried, had worked himself up to a salary rate of $40,000 a picture for the Charlie Chan series. Since the trouble with his wife, to whom he had been married for thirty years, Oland lived a lonely life, surrounded only by a score of Schnauzer dogs. Better known abroad than any American star besides Shirley Temple, when he traveled to Europe on his last trip, he went—on a freighter. In China his pictures played a single theater for twelve weeks, the Chinese refusing to believe that Charlie Chan actually was a Swede. When he visited China, Oland delighted his Chinese fans by his banquet statement: "I have journeyed here to visit the graves of my ancestors." Walter Connolly and Charles Coburn are being considered as Oland's successor in the Chan rôle.

Irving Berlin rated an even $100,000 for "Alexander's Ragtime Band." . . . And wrote only two new songs! . . . What's this about the Peter Arnos [Timmie Lansing]? . . . Joe E. Brown escaped the autograph fans by registering at the hospital under the tag of Joe Cohn! . . . Morrie Small arranged the financing details of the Jack Oakie divorce. She gets plenty. . . . Elaine Barrymore's part in the Barrymore picture has been sliced. . . . If Robert Taylor moves out of the valley to Beverly, as planned, he may start a general exodus that will flatten real estate values out thar. . . . Vic Orsatti and Ann Evers are cooing. . . . Other coo-somes: Joan Woodbury and Peter Toyer, Bill Keighley and Genevieve Tobin, Paula Stone and Wayne Morris, Phyllis Welsh and Ken Murray, Jean Pettibone and Ed Stevenson, Margaret Lindsay with Howard Shoup, Jim Crofton and Mona Rico, Queenie Smith and Bradford Ropes. . . . Good Morning!

Ellis Island, gateway through which immigrants must pass before putting foot on American soil, is just a name to most of us. In this picture an endeavor is made—successfully—to present an insight of what goes on in this federal detention spot, after ships from foreign ports have disgorged their bewildered human cargoes.

Interestingly "Gateway" tells the story of Catherine, an Irish girl—second class passenger—Dick, an American newspaper correspondent, home again after months in the war zones; Tony, a sinister racketeer, who has spent some years abroad and is to discover his sort has gone out of style in the United States; Mrs. Simms, a lady of uncertain character, and various other folks whose lives merge for a time within the confines of the island.

A pretty romance develops between Colleen Catherine and Correspondent Dick—AFTER he has, unintentionally, almost been the cause of her being sent straight back to the ould sod.

The picture has several exciting, some sad and a few humorous episodes. It is ably acted—what a desperately earnest young person Miss Whelan is!—and directed, and should, I think, find favor with most of you.

See you tomorrow.

INSTALMENT I.

BRIDGES BURNED.

Jostled by hurrying commuters, they stood at the gate of the Twentieth Century limited. High emotional tension quivered between them like a living presence.

Anne Claxton straightened her hat on her gleaming gold hair, and glanced from her wrist watch to the length of track beyond. Would the train never be made up?

She hadn't dreamed that Gerald would be there to see her off after last night's stormy parting.

"This is a mad thing you're doing, Anne! Let me send a telegram to say you're not coming."

Anne shook her head.

"I've burned my bridges," she said. "It's too late."

"Nothing is too late, when you love me," Gerald dropped his voice to a vehement whisper. "You do love me, Anne! You can't deny it! You——" he broke off before Anne's look.

An impulse stirred in her to be completely frank in these last moments. She hesitated for the right words, amazed at her sudden sense of detachment.

"I have loved you, Gerald. All these two years I've loved you terribly. But that died a week ago when I realized you didn't love me. You love your freedom more than anything else in the world."

"Then why am I begging you to marry me?" Gerald protested hotly. "Why——"

"Because I've said 'No,'" Anne said with pitiless clarity. "A week ago if you had asked me——" her voice broke. She smiled at him through sudden tears. "You know what I would have said!"

"That's what makes it all so absurd!" Gerald gave an impatient shake to his suave dark head. "Just because I didn't take in right away that you really were up against it, you——"

"If you'd loved me, you would have taken it in." Anne's voice had a gentle finality that brought a slow red into Gerald's face. "Let's be honest

"I'm not giving you up!" he said. "Remember that!"

about it. When I didn't hear from you for a week after I told you what had happened, I knew."

"You might have given me another chance," Gerald said. "Instead, you decide to take up this crazy inheritance and go out to Wyoming to live on a cattle ranch! It's preposterous!"

"It's a godsend," Anne corrected. "It was the surprise last night that made you——" Anne broke off in embarrassed memory of their parting. "You'll be thankful I said 'no,' before I even reach Wyoming!" she ended, on a lighter tone.

"I will not! What's more, I'm not going to give you up, Anne. You'll see the folly of this step once you get out in that God forsaken country!"

Thankfully Anne turned to the porter, who appeared at her elbow. "Yes, I'm ready."

"Good-by, Gerald." She held out her hand. "No, don't come to the car; I'd rather say good-by here."

Gerald seized her hand. Before she realized his intention, he kissed her. "I'm not giving you up! Remember that!"

He turned and left her without a backward glance.

More shaken than she was willing to admit, Anne watched the familiar country flash past and thought back to the first time she had met Gerald.

She had been 20, two years ago, and had just come to New York from the old homestead upstate. Her father's estate had been settled and while there was not a great deal of money, there was enough to eke out a pleasant existence with the help of a job.

Instead of having to count every penny to pay off the interest on the mortgage and doctor's bills, Anne had known the exhilaration of having plenty, for the first time in her life.

Life had been wonderful that spring! She had found a job, she had met Gerald! Her world had blossomed in a thousand ways.

There had been joyous weeks when she had believed Gerald was in love with her as she was with him. The time had slipped away, gay, intimate little dinners; long, happy Sundays in the country; and always, in Anne's mind, the certainty that some day—some time—that magic moment would come when Gerald would tell her that he no longer could live without her.

Three months ago she had lost her job, but she had felt secure in the thought that her small patrimony would see her through the depression. Then had come the devastating news of the failure of the bank at home. In the twinkling of an eye her security had been swept away.

Anne had been torn by her sense of loss, and an inner excitement as to how this news would affect Gerald.

At last something had happened to break the deadly status quo in which they had been drifting. The thought of her need would rouse Gerald from his complacent acceptance of their relationship to something more definite.

Anne bit her lips as she relived that moment of telling Gerald the news when he had taken her to dinner that night, a week ago.

She could see the defensive look that had clouded his eyes, hear again his platitudinous regrets and assurance that it couldn't be as black as it was painted, sense his panicky withdrawal as she had sensed it then.

For a whole week he had stayed away. In that time Anne had fought out her disillusion and won. She knew now that she no longer loved Gerald.

When the struggle had been at its hardest, news had arrived of her unexpected inheritance from an uncle who had been lost to the family for years.

Coming at the time it did it seemed a direct challenge to break away from the old life. Not until all her plans were made did she let Gerald know.

The realization that he was losing her had wakened the spark of desire. Was it only last night that he came, tempestuously demanding that she abandon her adventure and marry him?

Anne sighed over the tragic futility of it all. The rhythm of the wheels seemed to catch the refrain of her thoughts. "Too late! Too late! Too late!"

It seemed to Anne that the last few hours of the journey were longer than all the rest of the trip put together. She gazed out of the window of the Pullman with growing wonder, mixed with excitement and a vague alarm.

The sense of unlimited space was appalling. Her eyes traveled over the undulating reaches of the mesa, which were broken here and there by strange monstrosities of earth and stone that reared their fantastic heights hundreds of feet into the air.

These must be the buttes she had read of. Anne gazed at them with awed fascination.

They looked like romantic castles of the middle ages, looming up in the distance against the vivid blue of the sky. Beyond, timbered ridges blurred, purple and indistinct; further still, gleamed the snow-capped peaks of the Rockies.

The whole country was throwing out a challenge to her! She knew instinctively that she would either grow to love it or hate it; it wasn't a land of half measures.

Red Butte was only a flag station for the limited. The hands of Anne's watch neared 11 o'clock. She waited with tense anxiety for the first glimpse of the town.

At last a few straggling houses appeared. The porter came for her bags as the train came to a stop.

The next thing she knew Anne was stepping off to the wooden platform of the yellow railroad station.

There was no one in sight. With a sense of panic Anne saw her trunk shot out from the baggage car ahead, heard the porter say: "Reckon the station master's 'round somewhere, Miss," and listened to the clang of the car door close behind him.

The heavy train started up, slowly gained momentum, and slid past her.

INSTALMENT XLIII.

MOST WONDERFUL DAY.

Anne saw Isobel's face light with pleasure as Alex talked to her a little way off. "Isobel," he was saying, "Mr. Vernon told me to tell you to wait for him in New York till he's out of the hospital. You're to keep in touch with me and not worry because you can't see him. If you try to communicate with him it is sure to be used against you by his wife. Self-preservation, you know. Dear God—how I wish he never had to know that."

"I suppose he must?"

"Of course. There are police on the ship already. Came out in the cutter. But don't worry, my dear. He says he's determined to find a way—because he belongs to you. It's literally true, too. It was for you he pulled himself together and fought his way back to life."

Isobel's face worked with her emotion. "O dear—if only I could see him for just one little minute."

"Really you mustn't even want to, Isobel. It's for your own sake. Don't you realize it?"

She nodded. "Of course. I was only talking. All right—where will you be?"

He took a card out of his wallet, wrote on it in pencil and gave it to her. Shook her warmly by the hand and went back to Anne. "Beautiful," he whispered, "I told Neil this morning. Was that all right?"

She had been uneasy about Neil—hurting some one who loved her was not pleasant to a girl as generous as Anne. "I'm glad he knows," she said with relief. "What did he say?"

"All the best to us, of course. He was a little crestfallen, but he said he half expected it. He seemed to have guessed I was the reason you would not make up your mind for him."

"You were the reason."

Alex drew her arm through his and held it tightly pressed against him. Little tremors ran through Anne's body. "If only Mena were not going back worse than before everything would be too perfect."

"You still worry about her, don't you, in spite of all she has done to you?"

"Yes, Alex—but for my mother's sake."

"Then don't worry any more. I am going to give you the address of a psychiatrist in Los Angeles who has made normal human beings out of much worse cases than hers. I will write to him personally, and you will write and tell your mother to take her there. You can really count on a miracle when you hear that she is in his hands——"

She drew a deep breath. "O—then I can give my whole heart to being happy——"

"Beloved," he murmured. Then his voice was suddenly charged with an intense excitement. "Anne, darling—can you make up your mind quickly?"

"Why, yes—if I have to——"

"Then don't think I'm crazy. I haven't slept since we parted. I couldn't. I got to thinking how jealous life is—how dangerous. How full of things unexpected and unforeseen. So, I thought, why wait for our happiness? Why waste one golden hour? We could get a modest home together immediately. What I'm driving at is this, darling—why separate at all? Why not get married today?"

There was an intimate look in his eyes as potent as a caress. Anne felt her soul drawn out to him. Such happiness was not to be believed—surely not of this world——

"Why don't you answer me, Anne?" he whispered, "are you afraid of it?"

She turned and looked out to sea. "Yes—a little. But only because it would make this day the most wonderful any girl in any time had ever lived."

His hand sought for hers and their fingers linked. They stood silent a long time as the ship moved slowly in, conscious of living through one of the high peaks of feeling of their lives.

Alex spoke at last. "I'll have to let you go ashore alone, darling. Mr. Vernon is being moved to the Julius Severn and I don't want to leave him a second till he's safely in their care. A moment's carelessness in moving him off the ship could undo much of my work. I'll see him safely installed and come back to you at your hotel. Will you be ready?"

Her voice was very shaky. "I'll be ready, Alex."

Anne gazed across to the Battery with misty eyes—her first glimpse of her new life—her new home. High in the blue air the silvery towers breathed out puffs of cotton-white steam. The titantic group of lower Manhattan—its towering arrogance like a hand upon the throat hindering the breath. Stimulating the soul with its mighty outlines—its unsentimental splendor. City of opportunity—of danger—of safety—and of love.

THE END.

Art Institute Wing for Home Furnishings Under Construction

Work has been started on a new wing of the Art institute. It will house articles of beauty which may be used in the home—china, glassware, and other furnishings that are not merely decorative.

A one story structure will rise from an excavation near the southeast corner of the institute. The wing will consist of a series of galleries to be equipped with the latest improvements in lighting and ventilation.

Charles H. Burkholder, co-director of the institute, said yesterday that the exterior will be completed within three months. The interior will not be finished until next year, but will be used for storage purposes meantime. Robert Allerton, capitalist and vice president of the institute, is the donor. Mr. Burkholder would not disclose the cost.

island, jackrabbits were imported from the west a decade ago, and since then have provided a world of sport for the Nantucket hunters.

Believe it or not, ice skating is a popular pastime at Lake Placid, N. Y., where many Chicagoans go to end the summer. A six weeks' ice skating season in the Olympic arena is one of the many attractions of a holiday there. During August there are a big charity fashion show, a horse show, and concerts by an ensemble from the Boston Symphony orchestra. Percy B. Eckhart is president of the Lake Placid club. He and Mrs. Eckhart left yesterday for the resort.

Their son-in-law and daughter, the Thomas Roswell Coynes, and their little girl will join the Eckharts next week for the rest of the month. Another son-in-law and daughter, the junior Darwin P. Kingsleys of New York, and their two children have been occupying the Eckhart cottage until last week-end.

John C. Murphys Depart for Vacation on Ranch.

The John C. Murphys left Saturday for a vacation on the ranch near Santa Fe, N. M., of Mrs. Murphy's aunt, Mrs. William B. Greenlee.

The Stewart Harveys, who have a house in Santa Fe for the summer, spent the week-end at Lake Geneva with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank Jr.

Chicago vacationers at Cape Cod will find time in the next few weeks to visit an exhibtion of paintings by Mildred Hayward [Mrs. John Balcom Hayward], the former Mrs. Chauncey B. Blair of Chicago. The exhibition is opening with a private tea next Wednesday at Centerville, on Cape Cod. Mr. Hayward was formerly director of the Dayton Art institute, Dayton, O. He and Mrs. Hayward live in Centerville, Greenwich, Conn., and New York.

The William O. Colemans and their children, who are on a Mediterranean cruise, have written Mrs. Coleman's mother, Mrs. Randolph Buck, that they were able to travel through the Holy Land in an armored car under the protection of machine guns and a guard of soldiers and policemen. The Colemans will travel more conventionally through Germany, Holland, France, and England before sailing home in September.

Harry H. De Clerques Motoring in the West.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. De Clerque and their debutante daughter, Miss Natalie De Clerque, have left by motor for the west. They will stop first in the Black hills and then go on to a ranch at Nye, Mont., to join Stevens De Clerque for ten days. Young Stevens will join his family for a trip through Yellowstone National park.

Mrs. Alan M. Ferguson and her little daughter, Margay, are arriving today from Silver Springs, Md., to spend several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hays. Mr. Ferguson will arrive Aug. 28 and he and his wife will go to Eagle River, Wis., to visit his father, Louis A. Ferguson, at the latter's summer home.

Mme. Cynthia de Zavodow has arrived in Chicago after a three months' visit to the French Riviera. She will stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Richards, for several weeks before going south for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Burford L. Porter have sold their home on Waukegan road in Lake Forest to the Barrett Scudders and will move on Sept. 1 to a house on Sheridan road, which was occupied until this spring by the late D. F. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly. Mr. and Mrs. Scudder expect to move into the Porters' home sometime in September.

The Oak Park Center of the Chicago Infant Welfare will give its annual party, a supper-dance, on Oct. 1 at the Oak Park Country club. There will be dancing from 10 until 3 o'clock.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee Brittingham of South Orange, N. J., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to R. Manning O'Connor Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Manning O'Connor of Short Hills, N. J., formerly of Chicago.

The marriage will take place in the autumn.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Scattergood of Germantown, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor, to Henry Regnery of Hinsdale.

Simple Crochet Sweater Designed for Small Child

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

For the crochet worker who wants a serviceable sweater for her daughter of 3 to 4 this two-toned blouse in the simple and speedy popcorn stitch is unequaled. The band at the bottom is done in a double crochet stitch in rose or blue. When four inches are completed, a natural or white yarn or crochet cotton is used. Two more rows of contrasting color form a striped effect in the center, and the sweater is finished in the white or natural material. Three balls of material are all that are required to make this sweater, and for the average worker three or four days is the length of time necessary to complete the garment.

For a pattern of this 3 or 4 year old child's sweater in the popcorn pattern, No. X27, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

The Housewife

Readers have asked if there is any safe product that will keep dogs off flower beds and shrubs. There are several sprays that will protect trees, shrubs, and flowers and that are guaranteed not to harm dogs. One of these sprays comes in quart and gallon cans. It's not expensive. It is both a dog and cat repellent. Use it once a week. A rain will wash it away, so renew it after a storm.

Pickled Fruits Enhance Flavor of Many Meats

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune.]

The function of pickled fruits is to enhance the flavor of meats. Pickled peaches with a veal roast, crab apple pickles with pork—these are combinations as delicious to eat as to look at.

Spiced currants one cans now may prove a blessing during the Christmas holidays or on a winter company occasion, for they not only taste good served with baked ham, but they may be used to baste the ham during cooking, imparting an elusive sort of spiciness.

Sweet Pickled Peaches.

4 quarts peaches
2 cups vinegar
4 cups sugar
2 tablespoons stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves

Dip peaches into hot water, then into cold, and slip off the skins. Meanwhile boil vinegar, sugar, and spices together for 5 minutes. Spices may be tied in a bag for easy removal from the pickling sirup, when peaches are canned, or the cloves may be stuck into the peaches, if desired, and the spices canned, too. Peaches may be halved or left whole. Many persons like to leave a pit or two in the pickling sirup to add flavor, when peaches are halved. Drop peaches, a few at a time, into the boiling sirup and cook until barely tender. Pack into clean, hot jars, cover with the boiling sirup, and seal.

If the spices are canned with the peaches, a spicier product will result, of course. Pears may be canned in this same way. They should be pared, cut in halves, and cored, before cooking.

Cantaloupe Pickles.

4 cups sugar
4 cups water
1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon whole allspice
1 tablespoon stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves
Cantaloupe, cut in sections

Cut cantaloupe into pieces and remove the rind. Soak the pieces for 3 hours in a salt solution made by adding ¼ cup salt for each quart of water used. Drain off the brine. Boil sugar, water, vinegar, and spices together for 5 minutes. Add cantaloupe sections to the sirup and boil rapidly for 10 minutes. Let the mixture stand overnight. Then drain off sirup and boil it until it is thick enough to coat a spoon. Add cantaloupe and boil until cantaloupe is clear, about an hour. Pack the sections in clean, hot jars, and cover with boiling sirup. Seal. Spices may be left in the pickles, or removed, before packing, depending upon how much of this seasoning is desired.

Pickled Crab Apples.

1 quart vinegar
4 cups sugar.
1 tablespoon whole allspice
1 tablespoon stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves
1 tablespoon blade mace
Crab apples

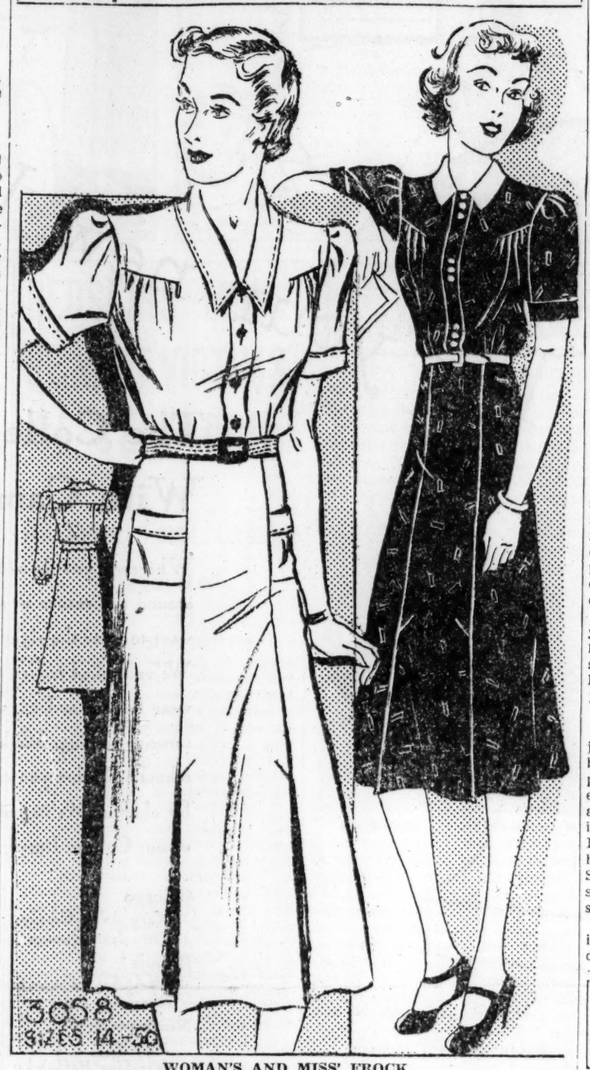
Wash crab apples of uniform size, but do not peel them. Remove blossom ends only. Mix vinegar, sugar, and spices, and boil together until the sirup is heavy enough to coat a spoon. Add apples to the sirup and cook gently to avoid breaking the skins, until the apples are tender. Do not try to cook a large number in the sirup at one time. Pack apples in clean, hot jars, and cover with boiling sirup. Seal.

Spiced Currants.

5 pounds ripe currants
1 cup vinegar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon ground cinnamon
1 tablespoon ground cloves
6 cups sugar

Simmer ingredients together for 30 minutes, pour into clean, hot jars, and seal.

Indispensable Shirtwaist Frock



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

No matter what the season of the year, every woman needs a shirtwaist frock. The pattern today creates a slenderizing model for midseason or autumn wear. Whether your dress size is 14 or 50, you will like this frock for all daytime activities. It makes up well in cotton, silk and woolen.

The shoulder is styled in yoke effect, with shirring doing its bit toward making the bodice flatteringly full. The sleeves are strictly tailored but have a bit of puff to lend breadth to the shoulderline. The neckline may be V, with a crisp looking narrow collar, or it may be high and round, with the typical shirtwaist collar for finish. Buttons in any manner of grouping enhance the front closing. A narrow belt, either of the fabric or of lether, encircles the snug waistline, and the skirt is paneled and plaited for fit and comfort. The hips are slim, but inverted plaits create width at the hemline. You may have pockets if you wish. If you make this dress of a plain shade of silk or woolen you may like to use simple stitching as trimming on collar, cuffs, belt and pockets.

Style No. 3058 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 39 inch material.

Posture Often Is Indication of Personality

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Your carriage does more than give you a good or bad figure. It announces to the public the strength or weakness of your personality. The way you carry yourself indicates the good and poor traits of your character. The strangers you meet this summer will unconsciously judge you by your bearing.

The girl with the stiff poker back probably is critical and unbending. People will be a little afraid to make friends easily with her.

The woman who slouches along suggests laziness. She doesn't look as if she would put herself out much or get into the swing of things.

Drooping shoulders give the impression of timidity, shyness, lack of poise, social uncertainty. They indicate defeat, the inability to meet the demands of life courageously. Maybe people will be sorry for the poor, burdened little thing, but helpless women are a bit out of date nowadays.

Your friends are all likely to take you at your own valuation. If YOU have a poor opinion of yourself why should they think highly of you? Don't let drooping shoulders advertise your ineffectual approach to life.

Take that vibrant creature who has just entered the ballroom. She holds her head high as if she came from a proud line of aristocrats. Her shoulders are straight but carried with ease and grace. Her chest is balanced as if she's never been afraid of anything. In a glance, you see she always has had plenty of popularity and success. She is in command of herself and the situation. There is an eagerness and strength about her that attracts.

She certainly must be worth knowing. Let's see if we can get an introduction and a dance with her!

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

There is a unique perfume deodorant to be found in the shops that solves two summer problems at one cooling, pleasant stroke.

It's a most unusual preparation, combining the uses of a toilet water and a deodorant and used just about as generously as you would use the former. It can be patted on or applied with an atomizer and you can use it generously without fear of irritation. It's an especially pleasing lotion to use on the feet, as well as under the arms.

The makers of this have had a nobby idea. For their base they have an efficient deodorant which checks perspiration somewhat and perspiration odor completely. Added to this is perfume, and they have matched the scents to some of the world's most famous perfumes.

In Chicago it is available in only two fragrances. One is an echo of one of the most expensive popular perfumes that come from France. This is a romantic fragrance—plenty of tuberose in it, unless we miss our guess—that in straight perfume is rated with the world's greatest.

The other fragrance in which the deodorant is available is a little brisker, with a clean-cut note that is enchanting in summer.

This new perfume deodorant is amazingly inexpensive.

August Helps Those Who Can Plan Wardrobe

BY RHEA SEEGER.

August is the month of heat waves, disconcerting displays of black velvet hats, black daytime dresses, and other showings of early fall fashions.

But it also is the month that offers great opportunities for those able to plan their wardrobe ahead of the weather.

If you must give up any pet scheme of acquiring a fur coat, you can have practically the same sort of fun picking out a good looking fur trimmed winter coat. Pay the small sum required to hold the coat until the weather turns. And by adding a sum every week you will own a coat early.

Winter wool coats, opulently trimmed with fur, are splendid alternatives for a fur coat. All the newest arrivals are brilliant examples of inspired designers . . . fur is applied knowingly and lavishly. Fur bands are suavely wound around the outlines of the coat itself and long slenderizing bands of flat and fluffier furs extend from neckline to hem.

Some of the most dramatic coats are trimmed with bands of sleek, shiny caracul or dull black Persian lamb. Blue fox, the most decorative and flattering of all pelts, is exceptionally beautiful contrasted with black, navy, brown or dull green coats. Despite the name, this fur is a subtle smoky gray, a shade that is becoming to all. Tawny gold fox, called red, is another spectacular beauty. So are the beautifully toned cross fox skins. All are glorious contrast furs being featured in the August showings.

Brown fur is used with black and it is an intriguing combination. Such a coat becomes the indispensable foundation coat of many well selected winter wardrobes. Brown caracul, Persian lamb, mink, beaver, baum marten, fitch, kolinsky—all smooth flat pelts—are popular and easy to wear fur contrasts for black, brown, and midnight blue coats. And they go well with the newest bold colored wool coats in red, rust, copper, green, vivid blue, and mustard yellow.

Belted coats are extremely important, as are the coats cut with a bloused back section. Collars of the most popular models are cut for comfort; the huge, unmanageable affairs have vanished. Sleeves also are under good control, but exceptionally well cut, allowing easy action without too much looseness.

Materials are soft, super-warm and of a spongy texture, although there are plenty of smooth finishes such as fine broadcloth and suede. Black still leads the fashion parade, with brown a close second. Moderate prices are stressed during the August sales.

Looking at Hollywood

By Ed Sullivan

Their caricatures of the Tony De Marcos and Veloz and Yolanda are show-stoppers in any league.

That looker with Casey Roberts at the Bali was the ex-Mrs. Rudolph Valentino, Jean Acker. . . . Judy Garland and Billy Hallop are handholding. . . . Morton Downey follows Richman into the Clover club. . . . Add Curios: Boris Karloff raises prize orchids. . . . Rence Torres and Lawyer Virgil Moore cutting up touches. . . . Because Art Jarrett sang "Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?" Gordon and Revel got him to return to the coast to warble "I Have a Date With a Dream" in the Sonja Henie picture, "My Lucky Star." He got $1,000 and expenses.

David O. Selznick insists in a long wire that he'll make "Gone With the Wind" and nobody else. . . . Johnnie Weissmuller dancing with Helene Del Valle, but her honey is Bunty Lawrence, Vincent's lad. . . . Bob Taplinger big appleing with Rosemary Lane. . . . Johnny Dundee planing out to New York. . . . Norma Shearer dancing with Jimmy Stewart at the Trocadero. . . . Florence Heller eastbound to play in "Stage Door" in Connecticut. . . . Don't be too, too surprised if in this month's Hollywood Reporter poll of the critics, Mickey Rooney beats out all of the big male stars as the No. 1 performer of the month.

Like McCarthy, Boys and Girls? Write to Sally

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

Did our party announcement mow you down, boys and girls?

I thought it would. "Letter of Introduction" is a brand new movie featuring Charlie McCarthy. I knew I wouldn't have any trouble finding boys and girls who'd like to come to see the picture with me. It's showing at the Palace theater, you know, and on Thursday, Aug. 18, I'm going to take 100 children to see it. That's not all that's on the program for that party, either.

We'll also see a stage show, featuring a comedian, a magician, and a harmonica ensemble. Some of you may remember the musicians if you saw Deanna Durbin in "Mad About Music."

I'll have lots more to tell you about this party tomorrow. Now I am going to help you get a good start on your letter. The letter, you know, must be on my desk not later than next Thursday morning. Here's how to try for an invitation:

All you have to do is write me a letter which will convince me that you would have a good time at the party. Just tell me in your own words why you'd like to see this show. Be sure to tell me your full name, address, and age. You must write your own letter—no fair having some one else do it for you. Don't worry about your writing or spelling. I don't care about that. I just want to know why you think you'd like this party.

Last week we had several fine letters that were late. I know the writers were disappointed because they weren't winners. Don't be a slowpoke with your letter. Sit down this minute and write it. Then mail it to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: After my partner and I had won the rubber with the hand I am inclosing, our opponents spent half an hour raving about our 'luck.' They claim that we had landed in a terrible contract and that it was only the remarkable lay of cards that let us make it. Please analyze our bidding and tell us if the opponents' sneers were justified.

"The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	Pass	3 diamonds	Double
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	Pass

"West admitted that his three diamond bid was a stretch but claimed that, since he wasn't vulnerable and we were, it was a good shutout bid. I am inclined to agree with his reasoning, but still do not see why he should criticize our bidding.

"The hand worked out peculiarly, however. West opened the diamond king, dummy won, and a low heart was led. East ducked and took the second round. He then returned the nine of diamonds, but as you will see, all I, as declarer, had to do was duck. West could not overtake without establishing my ten spot and East had no more diamonds to return. I ran four hearts and three spades, then when the spade break became known, threw East on lead with the last spade, and he had to lead up to the ace-queen of clubs.

"Please comment on the bidding. The play, I think, speaks pretty much for itself.

"K. W. T., Philadelphia."

Is it possible that somebody is pulling my leg, by diverting my attention to the bidding and, thus, away from the play? Actually, the bidding warants very little, if any, comment. North's double of the three diamonds was, of course, correct. It was an "optional double" but, since North-South were vulnerable against nonvulnerable opponents, it had a strong take-out connotation. South's three no trump response was undoubtedly the best available, and North, with a diamond stopper of his own and no five card suit, acted properly in passing.

Now as to the opponents' raving about "luck," I can comment on this in one sentence: North-South couldn't have come out so luckily if East had made the simple little play of putting the nine of diamonds on dummy's ace, thus conserving the deuce to lead through declarer!

Perhaps I am unduly suspicious, but it seems strange that not one of the four players noticed this little point.

BRITISH MINISTER ON SECRET VISIT TO THE HOLY LAND

Spends Two Days Among Arabs and Jews.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Malcolm MacDonald, British colonial secretary, paid a secret two day visit to terror ridden Palestine, authorities disclosed after his departure today.

Malcolm MacDonald.

The young colonial secretary arrived by air yesterday to confer with officials on general security measures, but strict secrecy was observed to protect him while he was here.

Unrecognized, he mingled with Jews and Arabs and flew on an inspection tour over a large area of Jerusalem, where Jews and Arabs are on a virtual guerrilla wartime footing.

Officials declared MacDonald's visit had no political motive and that Britain still adhered to her partition policy toward which both Jews and Arabs are hostile.

Oppose Partition Plan.

Both claim the Holy Land as their own and are opposed to Britain's plan to divide it into three separate areas—a Jewish state, an Arab state, and a territory to remain under British mandate.

More than 200 persons have been killed and 500 injured since smoldering enmity flared into new violence July 5.

MacDonald conferred with Sir Harold Alfred MacMichael, high commissioner of Trans-Jordan and commander-in-chief of Palestine, and Gen. Robert Haining, commander of British troops posted throughout the Holy Land to suppress the disorders.

Six Die in New Riots.

MacDonald flew over Galilee and Samaria and visited Bethlehem and Solomon's pool.

Rioting and assassinations continued as the British colonial secretary traveled about the country. Six persons were killed and three injured in the week-end disorders. Among the dead were three British peace officers.

A commission headed by Sir John Woodhead has completed a first hand study of Britain's partition plan and is en route back to England to meet with British officials in London on Aug. 15.

Issues Statement.

After MacDonald left for Aboukir en route to England by way of the island of Malta a statement by him was issued in which he said:

"We, in common with many others, are concerned to play our part in restoring peace to Palestine on a basis of justice to the two peoples whose home is there and that will be our constant endeavor during the times that lie ahead."

TORTURE BANDITS BEAT PENSIONER IN QUEST OF GOLD

William Thews, 13311 Avenue L, an old age pensioner, was tortured and robbed yesterday of $9 by three youths. Police said the youths apparently had heard a groundless report that Thews was a miser with a hoard of cash.

Thews, who is 68 years old, told the east side police that the three entered his basement flat shortly before dawn and demanded he reveal the hiding place of his hoard. They twisted his arms and beat him on the face. All they could find by ransacking the apartment was the $9, remainder of his month's pension check.

Thews built the building in which he lives 18 years ago. He lost it through foreclosure two years ago, and the present owner lets him keep the flat.

GIRL'S MOTHER HALTS HIS ELOPEMENT PLAN, SO YOUTH KILLS HER

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Frank Cheeseman, 21 years old, a sign painter of Neptune, N. J., invaded the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Yetman last night and shot and killed her when she interfered with his attempt to force her daughter, Ann Clark, 20, to elope with him.

Cheeseman is being held. Miss Clark was released on $5,000 bond as a material witness. She is tall in contrast to Cheeseman, a puny youth. She said Cheeseman ordered her to elope with him to Elkton, Md., but that her mother interposed and he shot her.

"He was a pest," said Miss Clark. "I didn't want to marry him, nor did my mother want me to. I only kept seeing him because I felt sorry for him."

40 WASH THEIR SINS AWAY IN A PARK LAGOON

BY MARCIA WINN.

Long before most of Chicago was out of bed yesterday a vast, curiously silent throng lined the shores of the Washington park lagoon.

Here for that rare Chicago occurrence, a public outdoor mass baptism, had come thousands of Baptists. Nearly all were colored. They remained to sing and chant and cheer from the sidelines with a fervor that eclipsed a Billy Sunday revival.

As early as 6 a. m. the crowd began to gather. By 8 a. m., the hour for the baptizing, spectators were packed ten and twenty deep around the water's edge.

Converts Clad in White.

Forty converts, wearing trailing white robes, sox and head bandages [concealing rubber swimming caps], sat in stiff, tense rows in the boathouse.

Suddenly the crowd stirred. A big red sound truck rolled up. "One, two, three, testing," a voice said. Then again, "One, two, three, Moses."

A woman in the crowd, her spirit already moved, cried out, in a rich, but piercing contralto — "Amen, brother!"

Then slowly, down to the water's edge, stalked the Rev. T. E. Brown, pastor of the Progressive Baptist church at 3705 South La Salle street.

Urges Every One to Leave Sin.

The pastor was resplendent in a wing collar and flowing black cape. Below the cape appeared black rubber hip boots. While a deacon, also rubber booted, held a black umbrella over his head, the pastor spoke into the microphone.

He told the throng that every sinner should make up his mind to leave sin. Then he read from the third chapter of St. Mark.

"Then came Jesus from Galilee to Jordan—" he began.

"And the Lord when he was baptized went up straight way out of the water. They didn't throw water on him—" he cried.

"No, Lord!" cried the happy multitude.

"No, Lord!" came the response.

"He was baptized in Jordan!"

"That's right!" and "A-men!" cried the crowd.

Then, as the pastor led the thousands in the singing of the "Commission Hymn," he started down a roped off runway. Behind him filed the converts.

While those on the shore sang, the first convert, her face distorted, her hands rigid, advanced into the shallow water. The pastor began to speak, his phrases punctuated by mighty "A-mens" from the crowd. Then with one hand he grasped the back of the convert's neck, with the other her nose and—splash—she was in and out. Soon another went down, to emerge with arms outstretched and legs stiff.

Crowd Pleads for More Sinners.

As the immersions continued, the singing, the "A-mens" became more fervent. One by one all forty went in. The watchers pleaded in song for more.

"Don't you want to go?
Let's go down to Jordan,
Let's go down Jordan,
Let's go down Jordan,
Hallelujah!"

But no one went. Then a voice sang out again, apparently in resignation.

"I'm so glad Done got over—"

The singing stopped. The watchers melted away. The mass baptism was over.

U. S. NAVY CLAIMS 2 WORLD MARKS FOR ITS DIVERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The navy claimed new world records today for two of its divers.

Under artificial sea conditions, two experts underwent tests at the Washington navy yard equivalent to a dive of 500 feet, it was announced.

In the open sea, Master Diver William Badders of Annapolis, Md., made an actual descent of 402 feet last month off the New England coast.

The tests were made in the course of experiments to improve submarine salvage methods.

Both Badders and Master Diver J. H. McDonald of Las Animas, Colo., who participated in the tests at the navy yard, used standard rubber diving suits of the type used in attempting the rescue of trapped submarine crews.

CUBS, BEES BREAK EVEN; SOX WIN AND LOSE

BRYANT TAKES OPENER, 7 TO 4; LEE BEATEN, 5-0

Collins and Demaree Back in Game.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7.—The Cubs ended their first Hartnett led invasion of the east today by splitting a double-header with the Boston Bees. They won the first game behind Clay Bryant, 7 to 4, but in the second Jim Turner stood them on their heads while the Bostonians fashioned a 5 to 0 triumph at the expense of Bill Lee, who started east with a record of 13 victories and 5 defeats and departed for Cincinnati with the same 13 victories but with eight defeats.

Clay Bryant.

Clay Bryant won his third victory of the trip in the first game and had his second successive shut out in hand until the eighth inning. He had to withdraw in the ninth, having been hit above the left wrist by a line drive. In this affair the Cubs made 14 hits, Bryant leading the attack with a triple and two singles. Joe Marty was runner-up with a triple and a single.

Collins Leads Attack.

The shutout in the second game was the second in the series and the Cubs appeared even more helpless than they did yesterday in the 1 to 0 spanking Lou Fette gave them.

Frank Demaree and Rip Collins, put in the doghouse by Manager Gabby Hartnett Thursday, emerged today with mysterious new prestige, if their batting order assignments could be taken as evidence. Collins made the only two Cub hits off Turner in the first five innings of the second game, but otherwise the Chicago ensemble did not seem to be greatly aroused by the return of Demaree and Collins, after their brief disciplining for meekness at bat.

Win Five, Lose Seven.

The eastern phase of this trip, which still includes stops in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, showed five Chicago victories and seven losses. The Cubs were in second place 4½ games back of Pittsburgh immediately before they blew their night game in Brooklyn on July 27. Since then the going has been tough, even though the lads did shut out the Giants twice in a three game series.

FIRST GAME

The Cubs broke a 14 inning run famine when they produced a pair in the third inning of the first game. Bryant started things with a single to right. Hack flied to Di Maggio, but Herman singled, putting Bryant on third. Collins supplied the second out with a foul to Lopez, after which D'Dea singled to right, scoring Bryant and putting Herman on third. Reynolds then singled to left, Herman scoring.

Bryant's bat was an essential factor in fourth inning production. Marty opened with a single, went to second on Jurges' out, and scored on Bryant's triple to center field.

Cubs Open Up.

Collins led off the eighth with a double to left, after which O'Dea bunted. Lanning sought to spear Collins at third, but threw the ball deep into left foul territory, Collins scoring and O'Dea reaching second. Reynolds flied deep to Di Maggio, O'Dea taking third. Demaree singled to center, scoring O'Dea and winning a bath for Lanning. Shoffner, making his first appearance since an appendicitis operation, succeeded Lanning. Marty tripled to center, scoring Demaree, and Joe got home on Jurges' single to center. Bryant was retired for the first time, Lopez to Cooney, and Hack lined to Garms.

Bryant lost his shutout in the eighth. Stripp opened with the fifth Boston hit. Lopez flied to Reynolds, but Warstler and Shoffner walked, loading the bases. Di Maggio bounced a double play ball to Hack, but Herman dropped Stan's throw, Stripp scoring. Cooney forced Di Maggio, Warstler scoring. Herman then threw out Garms.

Bees Perk Up.

Cuccinello started the home ninth with the sixth single off Bryant and stopped at third on West's double, the only extra baser off Bryant. Stripp's line drive hit Bryant on the left wrist. Clay threw out Stripp, then retired in favor of Root. Lopez fouled to Hack, but Maggert, batting for Warstler, walked, filling the bases. Mueller batted for Shoffner and singled off Herman's glove, scoring Cuccinello and West. Di Maggio struck out after a three and two count to end the game.

SECOND GAME

The bruising of Lee took place in the first two innings of the second

Two Women Split $5,000 in Washington Park Contest

BY FRENCH LANE.

In one short week incredulous horse race fans have watched Washington Park, admittedly the morgue of the Chicago circuit, turn a complete flip flop and break all attendance and betting records. The track has become the mecca of those who like to pick up money by their wits.

And the reason—Washington Park Jocky club officials had a brain wave at one of their sessions when they were endeavoring to pump new life into their fast ebbing patient. The idea was originated by Publicist Joe Foley and his assistant, Bill Rudy.

They would give away $1,000 a day for 30 days to persons who were adept at picking winners and yet whose moral scruples, perhaps, or financial shortcomings prevented their going to the track and backing their judgment by betting.

Entry Blank in Program.

No tickets are bought in this scheme. Your entry blank is in your program and the price of the program is ten cents.

The plan clicked. Puzzle fans have put aside their reference books and dictionaries and instead are poring over the race track dope sheets. Then, like so many Pittsburgh Phils and "Bet a Million" Gateses, they go to the track each afternoon to plunge their individual dimes.

At first skeptics were of the opinion that this was just another bank night proposition and that the government would step in and spoil the fun.

A Contest of Skill.

The wary Washington Park officials had thought of that long before and had held numerous conferences with Uncle Sam's men before announcing the scheme. They learned from the government men that the amateur handicapping contest could be termed a contest of skill and thus was legal, whereas a bank night was a lottery, pure and simple. To be a winner at Washington Park, they contended, one really has to know something about the horses.

The first week of the handicapping contest upheld this theory. The $1,000 was to go to the person picking the winners of the first seven races. Not one person knew enough about the horses to do this on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Friday.

35,623 Selections Made.

The accumulated $5,000 pot was at stake on Saturday and was to go to the person or persons who selected the most winners in the first seven races on that day.

This brings us to an important part of the story. Not until late yesterday were these winners' names available because 35,623 sets of selections made at the track Saturday had to be checked.

Two women, both from the south side, divided the $5,000 prize. Each selected six winners and each won $2,500. They were:

Mrs. Dorris R. Ward, Del Prado hotel.

Jessie L. MacBath, 5014 Cottage Grove avenue.

Mrs. Ward, who is the wife of H. K. Ward, left the hotel shortly before noon yesterday. She had inquired a dozen times of the hotel telephone operator if there had been any calls for her. As she left she

REDSKINS MAY BE NEXT VICTIMS OF SELF-PRIDE

All-Stars Form Capable Squad, Too.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

George Halas, coach of the Chicago Bears, has picked the Washington Redskins to defeat the All-Americans. This must have been a surprise to thousands of the voters in the all-star poll who chose the squad to meet the professionals in Soldiers' field Aug. 31 and who have been balloting to select the staf of coaches to direct these collegians.

Many might have thought that since the Bears certainly have no reason to like the Redskins, having lost the professional championship to Washington last December, the Bears' boss might have looked diligently for evidence that the All-Americans would whip Washington even if the Bears couldn't. Halas, however, has unselfishly put aside personal considerations, and despite his business rivalry with Washington he has named the Redskins as victors without reservation.

Consistent, At Least.

In backing Washington, Halas at least is consistent. This is the fifth year Halas has thought the professionals would win and that he already has been wrong three times only is further proof of his sincerity. It may be that Halas' optimism will not quite reach the same heights as in 1934 when he thought, and many others agreed with him, that the Bears would defeat the All-Americans by five touchdowns. The result of that inaugural game, if this retouching of an old wound be permitted, was a scoreless tie.

In some aspects of his forecasting Halas reminds us of Jimmy Braddock's assertion that Joe Louis would whip Max Schmeling, not that Braddock was wrong, of course, but that when pressed for his reasons, Jim added: "I'm in business in New York and I'd look swell picking a foreigner and a Nazi to win, wouldn't I?"

Interesting Analysis, But—

In his interesting and thorough analysis of the strength of the Washington attack, Halas exhibits somewhat the same respect that a boy, who has been burned by fire, might have for matches and perhaps does not realize that all who play with fire are not burned. Fair criticism of Halas' essays is that occasionally his writings indicate Washington's Redskins may not be quite perfect and, more important, is his complete disregard for the All-Americans and what they may do when they meet the professional champions.

In his eulogy of Turk Edwards, Washington's 255 pound tackle, Halas says truthfully that "Edwards is a notoriously slow starter and seldom reaches his peak until the regular season is well along."

While this should not be construed as an abili, it may serve as sufficient excuse if Edwards fails to "pick an end up and throw him at the runner."

No one intimated that Sammy Baugh is not the greatest passer in football until the owner of the Bears modified his words of praise by add-

Ohio Driver Is Injured in Hammond Race Crash

Dick Anderson of Xenia, O., suffered minor injuries when his car overturned during the running of the 100 mile feature race on the Hammond speedway yesterday. The race was won by Mike Calderson of Hammond.

ROUT FERRELL TO TURN BACK SENATORS, 14-5

Thornton Lee Victim in 12-5 Defeat.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox started off at an amazing pace yesterday but the display of energy apparently exhausted them before all their work had been handled. Their early speed carried them into a handsome lead over Washington's Senators in the first game of a double-header, which they captured eventually, 14 to 5. The second engagement was exactly the reverse, both as to technique and result. This time the enemy jumped in front at the start and remained there until a final count of 12 to 5 had been compiled.

Monty Stratton.

Maybe there was some excuse for the Sox doing a fadeout after the initial struggle. They blew amiable Wes Ferrell off the premises and that was pleasure enough for one day. Monty Stratton, the Sox' choicest pitcher, encountered few difficulties in scoring his eleventh victory of the year.

Thornton Has a Bad Day.

Thornton Lee, the lefty, started in the second game and was permitted to suffer through two innings, in which seven runs were scored, thanks to hitting activity by Al Simmons and Zeke Bonura, Sox graduates, as well as a few others. Gene Ford, formerly of the University of Iowa, finished.

In the first game the veteran Luke Sewell reached for a foul tip off Appleton's bat, but had his hand in the wrong place. The ball plunked him on the second finger of his right hand and retired. He will be absent for at least a week.

FIRST GAME

The highly tempered Ferrell had reason to be suspicious as he faced the first batter in the opening game. This was Berger, who slapped a low liner to center. West attempted a shoestring catch but instead turned a somersault, the ball rolling so far away that Berger stretched it into a homer. After Owen had flied out, Walker singled, went to third on Radcliff's single and home on Appling's infield roller.

Travis walked and, on a single by Myer and a fly ball, scored in the second inning, but this one run didn't look like much after the Sox had completed their half of the inning. This five run incident began with a pass to Kuhel, a single by Sewell and the hitting of Stratton by a pitched ball to fill the bases with none out. Berger popped to Lewis, but Owen and Walker singled to account for three runs. Later on Appling singled to score Owen, and Walker counted on a wild pitch by Appleton, who acted as relief for W. Ferrell.

Monty's a Hitter, Too.

Stratton showed that he could hit in the third and this led to a run off Appleton. The Texas beanpole led off with a two bagger to left, went to third on an out and home on Owen's second single. Stratton also was involved in the Sox's lone run in the fifth, giving them a 9 to 1 lead. Stratton started by singling to left, but was forced by Berger. Berger should have been forced by Owen, but Appleton heaved the ball wild, Berger taking third, whence he scored on Walker's fly to Wright.

Appling made a leisurely throw on Bonura to start the sixth, but it was wide of the target. A single by West and a wild pitch turned Appling's error into a run. Just to make good on this gift, Travis made a bad throw on Sewell in the home sixth and it scored Appling, who had singled. Two more Sox registered in the seventh on singles by Owen, Walker and Radcliff, with assistance from a bad return throw by Case.

Senators Get Some.

The Senators added a run in the eighth on singles by Bonura and Travis, but the Sox improved on this achievement by scoring two in their half. The ingredients in the latter were a double by Rensa, a double by Stratton and a single by Berger. There was another pair of runs in the ninth, but they had a Washington label. Lewis hit a homer to right, Wright tripled in the same direction and scored on Berger's fumble.

SECOND GAME

Lee's first inning was not exactly happy because the Senators made four hits before an out was recorded, Case, Lewis, and Simmons singled, Case scoring. Bonura bounced a double off the left field wall, Lewis and Simmons counting. The next three men couldn't get Bonura across the plate. The Sox response to this outburst was a run in their half, singles by Berger and Owen and a balk by

PIRATES CONQUER GIANTS TWICE; 6½ GAME LEAD NOW

Triumph, 5-1 and 13-3, Before 50,468.

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates skyrocketed 6½ games in front in the National league race today by beating the Giants twice before 50,468. They took a 5 to 1 decision in the opener behind young Jim Tobin's four hit pitching, and then pounded Carl Hubbell for a 13 to 3 victory in the second game.

RUTH FINDS OUT ABOUT NATIONAL LEAGUE UMPIRES

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—For the first time since he became coach of the Dodgers, Babe Ruth was ejected from a game today.

Umpire Beans Reardon chased Babe in the fourth inning of the first game of the double-header with Cincinnati, when Ruth protested too vigorously a decision on Buddy Hassett. Trapped between bases, Hassett was ruled out when Reardon held he ran off the base path.

Brooklyn's manager, Burleigh Grimes, was ordered out during the second game. Leo Durocher hit into the left field stands, but the umpires ruled a fan leaned out and caught the ball, and that it was only a two base hit. Grimes masqueraded around with a handkerchief over his face—a la bandit—and promptly was ordered out.

DON ARMSTRONG AND HOERNER WIN IN DISTRICT GOLF

Doering, Becka, Krutilla Advance.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

All of the lads expected to come through in the first two rounds of match play in the 25th annual Chicago district golf championship at the Menidah Country club yesterday did just that.

There was Don Armstrong, the big Aurora blond who won the title last year and thereby was exempt from the qualifying round. There was Jack Hoerner, the former Stanford star from North Shore, winner of the medal in Saturday's 36 hole round. And there were such able swingers as Art Doering of Westward Ho, Chuck Becka of Calumet, Johnny Krutilla of Olympia Fields, Jerry Frost and A. H. Anderson of Kenosha, and Sid Salomon of St. Louis.

Durkes Offers Opposition.

Armstrong disposed of Bob Baldwin in the morning round and then went on to take a 2 and 1 decision from Dick Durkes of Rockford. After leaving the third green one down, the champion came back to take a 4 up advantage through the twelfth, after which he yielded the 13th, 14th, and 16th. Hoerner breezed through a 7 and 6 verdict over George Kinsman of Oconomowoc, Wis., and then outlasted Bob Bertsch of Butterfield, 3 and 1, in the afternoon.

Doering, amateur pacemaker in the national open in Denver, took a 3 and 2 match from Harold Foreman of Lake Shore, then put out Dr. J. Earl Harris of Olympia Fields, 4 and 3. Krutilla, former city amateur runner-up, eliminated Chick Evans of Edgewater, winner of the inaugural in 1914, 4 and 3, and George Dickey of Harlem, 5 and 4. Becka defeated Hank Bowber in the morning and then took a 3 and 2 decision from Warren Dawson of Glen Oak in the second round.

Play Finals Sunday.

The quarter and semi-finals, both at 18 holes, will be played next Saturday, with the 36 hole championship match scheduled for Sunday. Yesterday's results:

FIRST ROUND.

Don Armstrong, Aurora, defeated Bob Baldwin, Illinois, 5 and 4.

Dick Durkes, Rockford, defeated Joe Franco, Skokie Playfield, 1 up.

Johnny Krutilla, Olympia Fields, defeated Chick Evans, Edgewater, 4 and 3.

George Dickey, Harlem, defeated Ken Helleman, Barrington, 1 up.

Art Doering, Westward Ho, defeated Harold Foreman, Lake Shore, 3 and 2.

Dr. J. Earl Harris, Olympia Fields, defeated Jim Marek, 1 up in 19 holes.

A. H. Anderson, Kenosha, defeated Paul McDonald, Winnetka, 6 and 5.

Jack Hoerner, North Shore, defeated George Kinsman, Oconomowoc, Wis., 7 and 6.

Bob Bertsch, Butterfield, defeated A. L. Miller, Bob O' Link, 3 and 2.

Charles Becka, Calumet, defeated Henry Bowber, Riverside, 4 and 3.

Warren Dawson, Glen Oak, defeated Dick Phillips, Evergreen, 3 and 2.

James Frisina, Taylorville, defeated Fred Damaske, Kildeer, 1 up.

Sid Salomon Jr., St. Louis, defeated George Victor, Glen View, 6 and 4.

Arthur Minkley, Aurora, defeated Chuck Boywid, Big Oaks, 1 up.

Jerry Frost, Kenosha, defeated A. N. Anderson, Medinah, 6 and 5.

SECOND ROUND.

Armstrong defeated Durkes, 2 and 1.
Krutilla defeated Dickey, 5 and 4.
Doering defeated Harris, 4 and 3.
Anderson defeated Floberg, 2 and 1.
Hoerner defeated Bertsch, 3 and 1.
Becka defeated Dawson, 3 and 2.
Salomon defeated Frisina, 1 up.
Frost defeated Minkley, 2 and 1.

Jock Hutchison Jr., assistant professional at North Shore, teamed with Robert Potter to win the pro-amateur event at the Bon Air Country club yesterday by shooting a best ball score of 32—30—62. Three-quarter handicaps were used in computing the scores. The event served as a prelude to the Illinois State Professional Golf association's annual tournament, which will be played today at Bon Air. The event will consist of 36 holes of medal play. Yesterday's leading scores:

Jock Hutchison Jr.-Robert Potter	32	30	62
Ky Harche-Clarence Adelson	31	32	63
Pete Groo-Jack Edwards	31	32	63
Horton Smith-W. W. Hodgson	30	34	64

Golf's most important medal play event for feminine swingers—the annual 72 hole Derby tournament of the Women's Western Golf association—will open today with the first 18 holes at Butterfield. The tournament is the longest shot-for-shot show for women players in the game. Eighteen hole rounds also will be played tomorrow, Wednesday, and Thursday.

Heading the field will be Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., who has won the Derby for the last three years. Last year at Onwentsia she scored 309 for the 72 hole race, a new record. Right back of her in all three of these victories, and ready to run again today, is sturdy Patty Berg of Minneapolis. The field also includes Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City; Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis; Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, and Virginia Ingram, Eleanor Dudley, and Shirley Ann Johnson of Chicago.

John Revolta of Evanston and Dick Metz of Mill Road farm defeated Ky Laffoon of Northmoor and Jack Grout, 2 up, in an exhibition golf match at Northmoor yesterday. Metz was low scorer with 69.

Riggs and Ann M'Donnell Win Southampton Doubles

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Bobby Riggs, the singles winner, paired with Ann McDonnell of Southampton today to win the mixed doubles in the Meadow club's invitation tennis tournament. They beat Allison Harrison and Dwight Davis Jr. of Southampton, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4.

The defeat of the horse Miss Dolphin in the fourth race prevented Mrs. Ward from turning in a perfect card. Accordion's failure to win the third race prevented Miss MacBath from getting the entire prize instead of half of it.

Mrs. Ward turned in two sets of selections. One is entitled to as many as three. Miss MacBath entered one.

Thirty-eight others of the 35,623 selectors picked five winners in seven races. The prize goes back to $1,000 today.

Track Has Troubled History.

Life has never run smoothly for new Washington Park, which took its name from old Washington Park, located at 60th street and Cottage Grove avenue. The first attempt to stir patrons' interest in the track came with the offering of a $100,000 purse for the American Derby in 1926. The race was won by Col. E. R. Bradley's Boot to Boot. Mr. Bradley, however, was paid off with a rubber check. The check eventually was made good, but Washington Park had lost popularity.

Two changes in ownership followed. For the last two years the track operated in the face of adverse weather conditions. Profits were small or none at all.

Then came the amateur handicapping contest introduced last Monday. Now the long unused "sold out" signs are being dusted off.

I. A. C. WATER POLOISTS TAKE A. A. U. CROWN

The Illinois Athletic club water polo team won the Central A. A. U. title yesterday at the Lincoln Park Boat club by defeating the Chicago Park District representatives, 10 to 1.

The Beilfuss Natatorium team beat the Central Y. M. C. A., 14 to 2, for third place.

The champions will go to Bermuda where they will compete in an international tournament Aug. 22-23-24, after which they will compete in the United States title meet in New York City Aug. 27-28.

LAKE VIEW WINS TWICE; RETAINS B'NAI BRITH LEAD

Lake View clung to its lead in the B'nai Brith Lodge division of the B. B. Y. O. softball tournament by taking two games in yesterday's eleventh round in Grant park. Lake View beat Austin's No. 1 team, 8 to 2, and Ramah, 6 to 3. Scores:

Lake View, 8; Austin [No. 1], 2.

Hambletonian Holds Harness Fans' Attention

Goshen, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The $40,000 Hambletonian, harness racing's greatest show, is expected to crowd some 50,000 into this town with a normal population of 3,000 next Wednesday.

The race, supreme test for 3 year old trotters, is the high spot of the Grand Circuit harness racing season. It tops a week of racing in which $100,000 in purses will be distributed.

It's all a tribute to Hambletonian X., ancestor of most of the harness horses now racing, which was foaled near here more than eighthy years ago.

Expect a Dozen to Start.

A dozen horses are expected to answer the call of Starter Steve Phillips Wednesday and, while at least half of them are given a chance to win two or three heats, two stand out as favorites, Long Key and McLin.

Long Key, owned by E. J. Merkle of Columbus, O., and driven by 65 year old Ben White, the only driver to win the Hambletonian twice, has the best record. The son of Peter Volo won the National Stallion stakes at Cleveland with a time of 2:01½, which equaled Shirley Hanover's record in winning the 1937 Hambletonian.

Others Have a Chance.

Other probable starters which may beat the two favorites are Elbridge T. Gerry's Dale Hanover of New York, Mark Kyler's Professor of North Tonawanda, N. Y.; Champlain, owned by William Hughes of Cleveland; the homebred Prohibitor, from W. R. Harriman's Arden Homestead stable, and The Duchess, owned by William F. Strang of Brooklyn, the only filly in the field.

Armstrong Is Speedy Self in Last Ring Drill

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong completed his ringwork for Wednesday night's title bout with Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers with seven rounds of boxing today.

The featherweight and welterweight titleholder went three rounds with Chalkey Wright and four with Lew Feldman and worked at top speed all the way. At the conclusion of the drill Manager Eddie Mead announced Armstrong's work had been so satisfactory that he would do no more boxing.

Armstrong weighed about 135 pounds at the end of the drill. He will confine his work to light exercises tomorrow and Tuesday and expects to weigh in at no more than 134 Wednesday noon.

AMBERS GIVES, TAKES.

Summit, N. J., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Lou Ambers drove through a five round session with his sparring partners today and will have only one more ring workout before he defends his lightweight title against Henry Armstrong.

Ambers went three rounds with Slugger White and two with Victor Corchado and subjected each to a healthy beating around the head but took plenty in return.

Tomorrow Ambers will work either four or two rounds, depending on his weight after his road work. His only exercise Tuesday will be on the road.

Winnetka, Lake Forest Win; Tied for Cricket Lead

The Winnetka and Lake Forest teams remained in a tie for the lead in the Illinois Cricket association yesterday by scoring victories. Winnetka defeated Lake Shore, 135 to 40, and Lake Forest beat Milwaukee, 95 to 82. A tie also existed for third place as a result of Chicago's 44 to 37 conquest of Melbourne and Washington Park's 147 to 78 triumph over Oak Park.

Aid of Illinois Hunters Asked in Duck Work

BY BOB BECKER.

Duck hunters in Illinois again are being warned that if they want their sport to continue it's time they joined together in a coöperative effort to restore and perpetuate the big nesting grounds in the Canadian provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba.

This warning is linked with the announcement that L. H. Barkhausen, prominent Chicago sportsman, has accepted the Illinois chairmanship of Ducks Unlimited, the nationwide organization that has had the vision and the aggressiveness to go across the line into Canada and start work on the rehabilitation of marshes.

The Illinois division of Ducks Unlimited will start at once to solicit the support of 50,000 Illinois duck hunters, and the money raised through this coöperative effort will be spent on waterfowl nesting grounds in the Canadian provinces.

According to Mr. Barkhausen, a duck hunter with more than forty years of experience, Ducks Unlimited already has started work on saving nesting grounds for ducks and geese in the Canadian provinces. Illinois now is being asked to do its share of this important work.

"I have been persuaded to head up this work," said Barkhausen, "because I am convinced that this nation-wide movement of American sportsmen must succeed if we are to have any duck hunting in the next few years.

"The Canadian government is cooperating to the extent that every dollar from American sportsmen is being spent to maintain the marshes for the birds," Barkhausen continued. "Illinois has been a wonderful duck hunting country. But it is apparent that if Illinois duck hunters want to hunt ducks in the future all of us must do our part to save breeding grounds for the birds in Canada."

The program of Ducks Unlimited calls for the acquisition of hundreds of thousands of acres of marsh land for ducks and geese. Sportsmen from Maine to California already have organized to carry on this work. Illinois sportsmen who wish further details about Ducks Unlimited and how they may help are advised to write to the Illinois division office at 231 South La Salle street, Chicago.

FROEHLING WINS FIRST MATCH IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Frank Froehling of the Chicago Town and Tennis club, seeded third, made his start in the Fullerton Tennis club tournament yesterday by defeating Jimmy Cornell of Fullerton, 6-2, 7-5. It was a second round match. Froehling drew a bye in the opening round.

Jack Readey of Fullerton beat Ija Adler of Fullerton, 7-5, 6-1, and Doug Coyle, University of Wisconsin, eliminated Art Schildgen, Fullerton, 6-1, 6-0, in the other second round matches. Summaries:

W. L. Davis, Fullerton, defeated Irving Goldberg, Fullerton, 6-2, 6-0.

Robert De Blois, Fullerton, defeated Harry Hall, Indian Boundary, 6-3, 6-1.

Jack Readey, Fullerton, defeated Ija Adler, Fullerton, 7-5, 6-1.

Doug Coyle, University of Wisconsin, defeated Art Schildgen, Fullerton, 6-1, 6-0.

Frank Froehling, Chicago Town and Tennis, defeated James Cornell, Fullerton, 6-2, 7-5.

ST. ADRIAN WINS 3 TO 1; GOES INTO C.Y.O. SEMI-FINALS

With Ray Owens pitching four hit ball, St. Adrian's, 1937 C. Y. O. champion, defeated SS. Peter and Paul, 3 to 1, in Shewbridge field yesterday to earn a place in the 1938 C. Y. O. semi-finals next Sunday.

St. Andrew of the far north division won its intersectional contest from St. John Cantius, 12 to 1, and will be St. Adrian's opponent in the semi-finals.

St. Roman's trounced St. Stanislaus B. and M., 9 to 2, in Clarendon park and will meet Sacred Heart [46] which won, 4 to 3, from St. Susanna in the other semi-final game.

Twin Star Wins Right to Enter Title Regattas

Twin Star, the Lockwood M. Pirie-John T. Pirie H. sloop, won the fifth of a series of elimination races held by the Wilmette Star class fleet yesterday in a Sheridan Shore Yacht club event. The yacht is now eligible to represent the fleet in the international Star and Great Lakes championship races.

A nine mile windward and leeward course was sailed by fifteen of the club's Stars off Wilmette harbor. Twin Star, sailed by Lockwood Pirie and Mrs. John T. Pirie II., led the runner-up by more than four minutes, with a time of 2 hours 26 minutes and 12 seconds. Asterisk, sailed by its owners, William and Richard Otter, was second, followed by Al Bingham's Glider. With its third victory in the series, Twin Star totaled 91 points to Asterisk's 83.

Southern Shore Craft Win.

The Southern Shore Yacht club's entries were navigated the most accurately and gathered 146 points to the Jackson Park Yacht club fleet's 107, in a challenge race off Jackson Park harbor yesterday. Pearce's Aro, owned and piloted by John M. Pearce, of the Southern Shore club, had the highest individual score with 22 points.

Cadet, owned by Bro Friend, won the Willis Ware trophy from a group of five Frostbite dinghies of the Columbia Yacht club's fleet in a series of five races yesterday in the Grant Park harbor.

Nadeau Entry Is Second.

Cadet, sailed by Stanley Thall, scored 21 points. Al Nadeau's dinghy was second, and Ned Shapker's third.

Leeds Mitchell Jr.'s Star class sloop, Shimmer, won a Chicago Yacht club series race yesterday off Belmont harbor. Shimmer won by one second over Dawn, Walter Hoiles' yacht, with a time of 2:41:31. Five other Stars competed.

Redskins May Be Next Victim of Self-Pride

ing "probably" and insisting that while Baugh broke the professional record by completing 81 forward passes in 171 attempts for gains totaling 1,127 yards one season is not sufficient for him to gain the status accorded Harry Newman, Arnie Herber, and Benny Friedman.

Don't Forget White.

One year ago Herber, then holder of the professional forward passing record, was expected to confuse the All-Americans by his accurate passes to Don Hutson. Baugh whipped the Packers with a pass to Gaynell Tinsley, and there is no reason to believe that another all-star might not do the same to Washington this time.

We are not concerned with who will win, but it is wise to remember that Byron [Whizzer] White, late of Colorado university, will play for the all-stars and if the Pittsburgh Pirates are willing to pay him $15,000 for one season, at least there is one professional eleven that admires this young man's ability.

White is not the only All-American back the Redskins should consider. Cecil Isbell of Purdue was more than a fair passer and Indiana's Frank Filchock and Detroit's Andy Farkas are said to know the fundamentals of pitching touchdowns. Teamed with such full backs as Frank Patrick, Gary Famiglietti, or Corby Davis, the all-stars might even attempt a fake pass and reverse play such as Washington used to score against the Bears in the championship game last December.

End Fooled Completely.

Washington's success with this play rested on completely fooling the Bears' right end until he was blocked out. It is a splendid play and the all-star coaches should tell Chuck Sweeney of Notre Dame, Ray King of Minnesota, and Jim Zachary of Purdue, and the other five all-star ends about it.

Washington overwhelmed the New York Giants to win the eastern championship, 49 to 14, by concentrating their touchdown passes to Charley Malone, an end. They threw passes to the other end, Wayne Millner, to defeat the Chicago Bears, 28 to 21. It is quite possible that before the all-stars take the field against Washington all of the men will have been told that both ends are eligible to catch passes.

U. S. TRACK TEAM WINS 8 EVENTS IN GERMAN MEET

DORTMUND, Germany, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Paced by Mozel Ellerbe of Tuskegee institute and Bill Watson of Michigan, the touring United States track team won eight of the ten events in which it was entered in a track meet today.

Ellerbe won the 100 meters dash in 10.4. Watson captured the shot put with a heave of 51 feet 4 5-32 inches, and gave Martens of Germany a fight in the high jump. Martens won the event with a leap of 6 feet 4 25-32 inches. Watson's best was 6 feet 1⅝ inches, for second place.

CAMARATA GETS CHANCE AGAINST ANGOTT TONIGHT

Meet in Feature Bout at Marigold Gardens.

Nick Camarata of New Orleans, La., will seek to better his rating as a lightweight in a ten round bout with Sammy Angott of Louisville, Ky., in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street, tonight. Angott is listed among the first ten in his class in the national ratings.

Camarata is undefeated since he outgrew the featherweight division. In six matches this year he scored five victories and one draw. Two of his triumphs were recorded in Marigold, against Pete Lello April 4 and Billy Marquart May 9. Since the Marquart conquest he went eight rounds to a draw with Lew Feldman in New York June 21 and beat Young Tiger Flowers in Pittsburgh July 12.

In the secondary feature of four rounds Frankie Kainrath, Golden Gloves and Catholic Youth organization bantamweight champion, will make his first professional appearance against Andy Canal. Other matches bring together Gene Spencer and Frankie Agnes, Frank Bonura and Henry Wacker, and Dick Kist and Alex Pug. The Spencer-Agnes bout is set for five rounds.

Al Williams, Fox Lake heavyweight, will be Patrick Landsdowne's foe in the windup bout of the wrestling show this evening in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Supporting encounters involve Bobby Burns and Hans Schnabel, Jimmy Heffner and Jerry Meeker,

DODGERS RALLY TWICE AND WIN TWO OVER REDS

Score 11 to 10 and 6 to 3 Triumphs.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Dodgers rallied twice today to beat the Cincinnati Reds in both games of a double-header, 11 to 10 and 6 to 3. In the opener the Dodgers scored three runs each in the eighth and ninth to win. In the second game the Dodgers put on a four run rally in the eighth, featured by Leo Durocher's homer.

YANKEES SWEEP SERIES TO CRUSH INDIANS' THREAT

Cleveland, O., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The New York Yankees today swept their three game series with the Cleveland Indians, paced to a 7 to 0 victory by Lou Gehrig's homer in the fourth inning with Joe Di Maggio on base. The league leading New Yorkers dropped the second place Indians five and a half games behind.

Red Ruffing turned in one of his best pitching performances of the season for the Yankees. He held the Indians to two hits, a double by Roy Weatherly and a single by Pinch-Hitter Bruce Campbell.

Babe Ruth's Daughter Is Reported Improved

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Julia Ruth, 22 year old daughter of Babe Ruth, was reported improved today by physicians at the Manhattan ear, eye, and throat hospital, where she received a blood transfusion from her famous father Friday. Suffering from a glandular ailment of the neck, Julia received almost a pint of her father's blood. Further transfusions, hospital officials believe, will not be necessary.

game, even as it did his last time out against the Giants. In the first inning Lee walked Di Maggio, then, after Cooney had flied to Marty, Bill walked Garms. Cuccinello singled to left center, scoring Di Maggio and putting Garms on third. West hit into a double play, Collins to Jurges.

There were two out in the second inning before the Bees got after Lee. Stripp fanned and Mueller tapped to Hack. Warstler and Turner knocked singles and Di Maggio drove them home with a double.

Only nine batsmen faced Lee in the remaining three innings of his stint. After he had given way for a pinch batter, Carleton became the Cub pitcher at the start of the home sixth. The Cub defense promptly bogged down under a bit of hitting. With one out, Cuccinello bounced a double over second and scored on West's single to center. Stripp was safe on Hack's bad throw, West stopping at second. Mueller flied to Demaree, West touched up at second and broke for third with Demaree's catch, whereupon Herman took the relay and threw high over Hack's head, West scoring and Stripp going to third when the ball went into the Bees' dugout. Warstler popped to Hack.

Open with Reds Tomorrow.

The Cubs will arrive in Cincinnati late tomorrow afternoon. The series there with the Reds will consist of three single games, the first of which will be played Tuesday.

Manager Gabby Hartnett, who was born in nearby Woonsocket, R. I., and moved to nearer Millville, Mass., when he was three weeks old, was honored by home folks just before the start of the second game. The Cubs joined in the gift giving. Representing the team, Traveling Secretary Robby Lewis presented Gabby with a wrist watch.

Mrs. Thompson Sets Mark in 400 Yd. Free Style Swim

Lake Mohawk, N. J., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Katherine Rawls Thompson of Miami Beach, Fla., set a new national swimming record of 5:00.6 for the 400 yard long course free style today. Referee George Vreeland, chairman of the swimming committee of the New Jersey A. A. U., announced the new mark was 9.4 seconds below the one set by Lenore Kight Wingard at Manhattan Beach, N. Y., July 28, 1936.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

EFFORTS TO PEG WHEAT PRICES ARE BOOMERANG

World Prices Drop Despite Programs.

Minimum price guarantees set by the American and Canadian governments on 1938 cash wheat have proved to be a boomerang as far as the world market is concerned.

Since the Agricultural Adjustment administration announced its rates for loans to farmers on July 14 prices of wheat futures contracts have been tumbling. They have fallen 9 to 12 cents a bushel. At present they are far below the loan value of a bushel of wheat. All futures contracts for wheat on North American markets sold last week at new low levels for the season.

The Canadian government also has committed itself to guarantee the farmer a price which is far above current market levels.

Wheat Drops Despite Loans.

How the value of wheat has dropped in the face of the pegging program financed with the taxpayers' money is shown in a comparison of last Saturday's prices with those prevailing at the time the AAA rates were announced.

The highest point reached by the September wheat contract Aug. 6, the highest point of July 14, and the AAA loan rates compared as follows at four terminals:

	Highest Aug. 6.	Highest July 14.	Loan basis
Chicago	$ .65	$ .74⅝	$ .75@77
Kansas City	.61	.69¼	.70@72
Minneapolis	.69⅝	.81	.79@81
Duluth [durum]	.60⅝	.70	.72

The price guaranteed by the Canadian government to dominion farmers is 80 cents a bushel under the program announced last Thursday.

Government efforts to maintain high prices for wheat in North America during the last ten years have met with only temporary success. The net result was to accumulate large supplies.

Action Begun in 1929.

The American Farm board started to support the wheat market in 1929 as a result of farmers' complaints regarding low prices. Cash wheat during the last six months of 1929 sold on the Chicago Board of Trade at $1.12 to $1.46 a bushel. Ultimately farmers were loaned $1 a bushel on their grain. This prevented wheat being sold for export and supplies steadily accumulated until on June 30, 1933, there were 378,000,000 bushels of old grain on hand to be carried forward into the 1933-'34 crop year.

The price range in the last six months of 1930 was 71¾ to 98½ cents and in the last six months of 1931 it was 45 to 62 cents.

At one time the Canadian wheat board accumulated more than 200,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Government holdings of America and Canadian wheat were gradually liquidated, with four years of short crops starting in 1933 facilitating disposal.

Canada will resell all of the wheat tendered to its purchasing body at the world price and taxpayers will foot the bill for the loss. The United States will seek to curtail its losses by reducing 1939 acreage.

Lehigh Valley Bondholders to Help Road

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Lehigh Valley Railroad company announced today a tentative agreement had been reached between the management and a large number of its bondholders providing temporary financial assistance to the carrier. It said the plan would entail "no ultimate loss to security holders."

The proposal, subject to approval of the interstate commerce commission, other governmental agencies, and the company's board of directors, provides, among other things:

1. A ten year extension on three issues of the carrier's subsidiary mortgage bonds.

Would Extend Payments.

2. A five year extension of 75 per cent of five interest payments on $72,236,000 of the company's general consolidated mortgage bonds beginning with the payment due on Nov. 1, 1938.

3. An extension of five years on all bank and Reconstruction Finance corporation loans with a payment of 5 per cent of the principal of each loan to be paid off during each year of the extension.

These extensions would give the company the use of $1,181,000 additional cash Nov. 1, 1938, and $2,362,000 in each of the years 1939 and 1940.

Called Full Protection.

The three issues of subsidiaries' bonds on which ten year extensions are proposed are Pennsylvania and New York Canal and Railroad company mortgage, $8,500,000; Lehigh Valley Rail Way company 4½ per cent mortgage, $15,000,000, and Lehigh Valley Terminal Railway company [now Lehigh Valley Railroad Company of New Jersey] 5 per cent mortgage, $10,000,000.

"It is believed by the management," a statement said, "that the plan outlined will, if adopted by the bondholders, fully protect them both as to principal and interest, and assuming a reasonable increase in the company's business during the next five years, maks any reorganization of the company's finances unnecessary."

AUTO ACCESSORY AND SPORT GOODS EXHIBITS OPENED

The Automotive Accessories association and the Sports Equipment association yesterday opened their joint annual exposition at the Stevens hotel.

R. Garland Ames, manager of the automobile display, said more than 3,000 buyers representing chain, independent retail stores, and department stores registered during the day. He predicted combined attendance at both shows would reach 10,000 before the exposition closes Wednesday.

DECIDE SOON ON POLL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Administration farm officials will learn this week whether they must poll farmers on the question of setting up a marketing quota on this year's corn crop.

They will decide on the basis of the federal crop reporting board's forecast, to be issued Wednesday, on the size of this year's corn crop.

Under provisions of the new crop control law, the agriculture department must propose marketing quotas, restricting sales by individual corn growers, when the August crop report indicates "excessive" supplies.

If a quota system were imposed, each corn belt farmer would be required to store what the agriculture department decided was his share of the total national surplus of corn, or pay a penalty of 15 cents a bushel if he sold it or fed it to stock.

Excessive Supply Defined.

Excessive supplies of corn are defined by the farm law as 17.7 per cent more than the quantity needed to meet a normal year's domestic consumption and export requirements. While not yet finally determined, the excessive supply level may be set somewhere between 2,800,000,000 and 2,850,000,000 bushels, officials said.

Private forecasts place the crop in excess of 2,500,000,000 bushels. Such a production added to a surplus from last year—officially estimated at between 375,000,000 and 400,000,000 bushels—would place the indicated total supply well above the level making a quota referendum mandatory.

The election would be in Illinois and Iowa and in the principal corn-producing counties of Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, and Kentucky.

IRELAND IS ADVISED TO FORM A CENTRAL BANK AND LIMIT DEBT

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Ireland, Aug. 7.—A four year survey of the banking and currency situation of Ireland has been completed and a report of the study commission will be published tomorrow.

Recommendations, it was learned tonight, will include these:

1. That there be no increase in the existing national debt of $185,000,000 and that this be reduced $2,500,000 a year.

2. That a central bank be formed to take charge of currency, advise the government on all questions affecting the country's finances, and keep in touch with world financial developments.

The report expressed satisfaction with the commercial banking and credit system and observed that there has not been a bank failure in Ireland in fifty years.

The commission urged with emphasis that Ireland continue to link its currency with sterling, asserting that this link in the past has enabled the country to weather financial storms.

There are some criticisms of the government's system of subsidizing industry.

Investors' Guide: How did General Motors, Chrysler, and Packard do during the 1932 depression? Which of these companies made the best showing?—A. T. F.

Answer: General Motors corporation had a net income in every full depression year, the smallest being $164,979 in 1932. The Chrysler corporation lost $11,254,232 in 1932, its only loss of the depression years. The Packard Motor Car company lost $2,909,117 in 1931, $6,824,312 in 1932, and $7,290,549 in 1934.

Steel Production Rises as Mills Add to Stocks

Steel ingot production last week was estimated by the magazine Steel at 40 per cent of capacity, a rise of 3 points over the preceding week. The production rate still exceeds consumer demand for steel, the journal said, but mills are building up their stocks in anticipation of improved business within the next few weeks. Scrap prices continued their advance last week. Steel's composite price for steel making scrap grades rose 42 cents to $14.50 a ton.

Mexican Trade Feeling Pinch of Depression

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A full-fledged economic depression is worrying Mexico, according to usually accurate business barometers.

The causes are disputed but government expropriation of the foreign owned oil industry and its attendant international complications, labor troubles and a drop in the tourist trade are assigned as factors.

Mexico admitted her economic troubles last week in a note to the United States refusing arbitration of American claims for expropriated farm lands and asserting that her economic situation did not permit indemnity payments to landowners.

Business slackened in January, 1938, but a real skid started after March 18 when properties of seventeen American and British oil companies were taken over by the government.

Blames Oil Companies.

President Lazaro Cardenas has accused the oil companies of causing the depression by withdrawing deposits from Mexican banks, forcing a tight credit situation and leading banks to call many industrial loans.

Other sources charge the government with creating the trouble by expropriating the oil properties and thus disturbing business.

July business reports gave a gloomy picture of conditions. Retail trade and wholesale business was sharply reduced in cities and towns outside the capital, a condition reflected quickly in Mexico City.

Inventories Mount.

Manufacturing, particularly in the cotton textile, wool and rayon fields, continued to suffer from slackened demand, mounting inventories, and labor troubles.

July automobile sales were 66 per cent lower than those of July, 1937.

Adding to other factors was a drop in the lucrative tourist trade. Many foreigners were frightened away from the country the first half of this year by an abortive revolutionary attempt by Saturnino Cedillo, a former general, and his agrarian followers in San Luis Potosi. Tourists are beginning to come now, however.

Everyday Economics

Profit Sharing.

Some companies now have profit sharing plans whereby employés get a share of company earnings in addition to their regular wages. The first record of such a plan in this country goes back to 1886, when the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing company, St. Louis, set up a program.

The theory behind such a plan is that the workers are entitled to share in the prosperity of the company when business is good. When business declines and there are no profits, there is, naturally no "profit sharing." One of the chief arguments in favor of such plans is that they give the employé an owner's interest in the business and offer an incentive for better work.

The plans take different forms. One type provides for monthly payments along with wage checks, based on earnings for the previous period [e. g., three or six months]. Other companies set aside the "shared profits" for each employé, to be paid to him only on retirement or withdrawal from the company.
